

Six in 10 Americans say access to mental health services would be “very effective” in addressing school discipline issues

How effective do you think each of the following potential solutions would be in addressing discipline issues in schools?

Very effective Somewhat effective Not too effective Not effective at all

