In this class, we will level-up in our abilities to understand, speak, and write in Lingít. We will study written speeches and recordings of fluent speakers, practice greeting each other and speaking from the heart, and hone our cultural and linguistic fluency for a long-term goal of respectful engagement with Elder speakers. Learners in this class will work on a personal project as they are able during the week, and on Friday mornings we will meet to review and share our work. We will work as a team to use the resources available to us and find our voices in the language. Level-up and have fun!
