For Immediate Release

Albuoy's Point Enhancement – Point Pleasant Park

Comments from the Public Invited

Hamilton – July 4th, 2019

Since 2017, the City has had a vision for improvements to the City park at Albuoy's Point – to make it more dynamic, more user-friendly and ultimately a unique destination. When artist Bill Ming's sculpture, Against da Tide, which adorned the sidewalk in front of HSBC in that location, was donated to the City, plans for a revitalized park, to include the artwork, were envisioned.

Improving upon elements already in the park, the City will look to install improved seating areas, shade elements, public artwork as well as a new layout. The redevelopment will lend itself to public events and provide entertainment opportunities. It will also encapsulate aspects of the Bermuda triangle, a story that reverberates around the world, one of myths and legends, that has put Bermuda in the global spotlight. The reinvigorated space will be known as Point Pleasant Park.

A model of the redesign has been installed in the reception area of the Corporation offices at City Hall. The City welcomes comments from the public as it strives to bring a refreshing look to a well-worn public park and provide an enhanced, energized space for all to enjoy.
