

From the Holocaust to Civil Rights

Three sisters present the story of their pilgrimage to Germany and France to retrace their grandmother's recently discovered tragic and shocking murder during the Holocaust.

They tell of meeting Dr. Hans Joachim Lang, who spent much of his life researching this story, and who eventually wrote a book about the 86 victims and how they died, Die Namen Der Nummern. They also met the director of a documentary about this tragedy, Le Nom des 86, Dr. Raphael Toledano.

The Simon sisters then discuss how this history affected their dad, Rev. Dr. Carl R. Simon, resulting in his lifelong fight for civil and human rights, including joining Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Selma, AL in 1965.
