The King's Reflections after the 15 hours Deposition part 1

Folks, thank you so much for your prayers and for your love and conditions- a lot of people did vigils. Thank you so much. It really makes a huge difference!

We did 15 hours of deposition. It was pretty exhausting, pretty, pretty exhausting, but I believe our side stated our point. The lawyer said we did very well.

Tim: He said you were perfect.

The King: Yes he said it was perfect.

But everybody's prayers gave me tremendous power. But these prayers and people were doing conditions around the world, and vigils, so I just want to thank everybody for all your prayers and your concern and standing up for God and standing up for Christ's kingship and standing there together with us in the Gethsemane condition! So it was a very long two days, a very long two days, and very grueling two days!

Because the other side is trying to trip you up and make you do mistakes so you have to stay focused, in prayer; you have to stay centered and you have to stay flexible, yet you have to be firm etc...

In any case at some point all the depositions will be online; they will be released by the judge, so everybody will be able to see them with their own eyes. It was a great historical record; we were able to proclaim True Father and it is going to remain as historical record, and for everybody to see, so in that sense it was a good experience and a good opportunity, but again it was a very long and grueling session. 15 hours!

So I definitely do appreciate your prayers. Maybe we'll do a shorter rhema today. I'm a little exhausted- I have to say!

I could not have done it without your prayers, and your concern and your love!!!! part 2/3

----- Let's go quickly to our Rodofiron Instagram page, and let's see our latest post. (The King shows and comments) ... We are thanking everybody in Korean and thanking everybody for the prayers.... We thank the folks that came out yesterday. They don't understand how much spiritual power they gave me. I mean every break I was able to see them, and every break they were just doing vigil, and every break could be mental and spiritual break, and the folks were right there encouraging me. I could just feel the activation of spirit world all around, all around, and we had spiritual power.

It was exhausting because it is a grueling 15 hours deposition time where they really try to gruel you and they want you to purge yourself; they want you to say something like this or say something like that, and kind of contradict yourself. Then they want to take those clips in front of the judge and say, "Look, look, he is lying, he is lying!" So you have to be very careful with what you say.

So it's a lot of mental trophotropic training. But I remember the queen said for example, when she finished her deposition; it was one day, but she said she was knocked out after she got home. She literally collapsed because it was so much stress. You know you have to be very cautious of your answers etc...

So in that regard, it was like trophotropic training and I felt eventually that their side was getting tired towards the end.

But we thank everybody that came out, and was praying for us, and all the spirit world and the heavenly host of angels and True Father in heaven, and True Mother in heaven, all of the folks and all of the spirit world I felt were mobilized, were standing, and we had the opportunity to proclaim and declare. It was powerful!

Firstly I think I must have called them heretics and bureaucrats and illegitimate usurpers and totalitarians about a million times (laughing). So they were pretty beat up by the end of the day, it seemed like. But I was just stating the truth and also the fact that I am Father's hand-picked, hand-vetted heir and successor, representative body, inheritor of the Lord of Lords and the King of Kings, and returning Jesus. So I kept on telling them that because it's the truth.

And it was interesting because every time I said that, the demons would be squirming; you would see their faces just crinkle up into prunes. Every time I called them, 'illegitimate bureaucrats' or 'wannabe totalitarians' or 'little fake dictators' or whatever the case may be, they would just squirm, squirm. And every time I was saying, "Father never put his crown on these bureaucrats," - I would say that a lot- they would squirm, squirm, squirm. But I mean that's what they deserve.

They are the ones who are suing me; for what? Using my father's symbol! I mean it's the most stupid thing I've ever heard in my life, seriously! They are so pathetic! They are so defeated! They are so incompetent and petty! First of all they stole all my assets that my father bequeathed to me. They have hundreds of millions of dollars and then they want to sue Sanctuary Church which is this tiny little church in the countryside for using the symbol. It's the stupidest, most totalitarian. But you can see it's because the truth is so ravaging to their lies and their corruption!

They even gave me some kind of document and they are saying, "Can you comment on this?" There are five pages, and four of them it's all black pages. All back pages! They are saying, "The rest of the pages are redacted." No! They are not redacted! They are black pages! Everything is black! Even the federal government when they release something and they say, "It's redacted," you can see some lettering, right? There was absolutely no lettering! They hid everything regarding the content of that meeting! And I was saying, "Why don't you show me the meeting?"

So I showed the black pages, "Look how ridiculous this is! Look at this!" I'm showing to the camera, because it's the stupidest, most ridiculous thing I have ever seen. You are going to ask me about the meeting, and then you're going to black out everything in the freaking notes. It's so ridiculous!

They obviously have things to hide, right? Because I think at that meeting Kook Jin Hyung said, "You traitors, you are traitors!" or something like that. They are just such pathetic and petty, and sad, demonic worms; they are just little insects. They are so pathetic, and they are so illegitimate, them trying to just hold on to what Father clearly gave authority to his son, his heir and successor, to oversee all these things.

So it was a long two days! They had me two days, so for 15 hours. That's not 15 hours of total time, that's 15 hours of camera time, or deposition time. You add in all the breaks and all the other discussions and group meetings ... so it's like probably 20 hours or something like that. So it's been a very long two days, folks!

But seriously if I did not have all of your prayers- oh my gosh! I would feel so empty and vapid; I would feel so dried up like a desert! But through everybody and through their prayers ... I know in Korea, they did overnight vigils and Japan as well, and Europe, and I heard also the Philippines. Thank you so much everybody! I truly, truly appreciate!

It allowed the rivers of living waters to continue to flow. It allowed me to remain in the subject position. It allowed me to stand strong and to declare the truth, and to rebuke the devil. I could not have done it without your prayers, and your concern and your love. I could not have done it without you all. I just felt everybody was standing with me there, standing with me in front of all those lawyers and the demons, the traitors to Father. It allowed me to just remain in my position, remain strong; remain true, consistent and true, truthful, you know true and truthful.

So it was a very powerful two days but again very, very, exhausting. So I do thank again one more time everybody who came out. It really did make a huge difference.

To Tim: how did you feel about the deposition? Can you talk about how you felt?

Tim: actually at the end the lawyers agreed that you could talk freely about that.

The King: you can talk freely about the deposition? So they will be put out on the Internet?

Tim: You can talk about it. Some of the exhibit, especially the black one that you mentioned just now...

The King: have you ever seen anything like that?

Tim: No I don't think; I have not.

The King: what else? What were your reflections on these two days?

Tim: Well I've been to quite a few of these depositions now. In the beginning each side chose seven people from the other side that they wanted to depose, and each added maybe one or two. Our depositions have been completed, people being deposed from our side. We have just one more left that we are going to be deposing: Mike Balcomb later this month. I think that will be the last one.

But they are all pretty grueling. I was in the seat once for a day; one day. This is a federal case, and according to the rules in federal court the normal thing is to do seven hours of camera time on record time, seven hours.

The King: they had me for 15; they had me for double time!

Tim: The thing is we had Hak Ja Han for ten hours over two days, so the judge also gave them ten hours with you. But there were the additional five hours where you were speaking as the representative of the corporation. So that's separate from the individual. That's why yours was extended to 15.

You know our lawyers argued, "Listen the reason we needed ten hours for Hak Ja Han is because she was speaking through an interpreter." As a matter of fact she was speaking through two interpreters.

The King: so everything is double slow

Tim: double slow and more than double slow I would say. But the judge still said, "Well I gave you ten hours with her, so they get ten hours with him." So that's how he finally reasoned it. In the end what the judge says goes; we can't change it unless we want to appeal it to a higher appeals court, but there is no sense in doing that probably. Your deposition was the longest of any.

The King: yes it was very long! Man it was long! It's hard to stay on point for ten freaking hours!

Tim: yes it is; it is.

The King: but it's everybody's prayer. I think it is the prayer power that allowed me to just stay, just hammering, hammering, just endless battering and hammering. That's what I felt. I felt it's the spiritual power of every body's prayers and people doing conditions and vigils, and staying up overnight and praying, it's all that spiritual power. I just felt it was a supernatural power.

I could feel Father's prayers. Every time we were declaring him, I could feel True Father and True Mother in heaven, and they are smiling and they are saying, "Get them boy! Go get them my son! Tell them the truth! Tell these traitors the truth! Tell them of their damnation, and that they are going to hell!" and this kind of stuff. It was very powerful! I mean it was very long and arduous but a very powerful, powerful experience.

To Tim: Any other reflections you had on that?

Tim: From my own experience as well: the lawyer gives you certain guidelines and rules before you begin, but it's very difficult to maintain that over a period of hours and hours and hours, especially if I had to do 15 hours, I don't think I could have done nearly as well as you did. I know I did not even do it in a single day, so it was really incredible what you did.

The King: Well I just feel we had a great counsel, and everybody's support, everybody's prayers, and of course we had our brothers and sisters sitting in the room as well, which was a great comfort. They could see with their own eyes the depositions, which I think was good. It was great. And the young people also could see what these depositions are about. It's also good for them to see because in the future they may be sued for something, I don't know. They may have to fight.
