

PATHFINDER

Pathfinder Systems Sales and Manufacturing is still open for business to support our customers and the critical infrastructure they maintain. We have taken many steps to safeguard our employees and customers from possible exposure to COVID-19. Both of our locations in Michigan are complying with state, federal and CDC guidelines and mandates, and these measures will change as we are directed. Pathfinder Systems has encouraged all employees to follow the recommendations listed by the CDC. We have arranged for the majority of our employees to work from home and those that are critical to work on-site are maintaining a safe and clean environment through regular cleaning and sanitizing protocols.

No visitors are allowed inside and all on-site employees are required to wash their hands upon entering the building.

At Pathfinder Manufacturing, we are also using disinfectant cleaner to keep the work spaces clean and have rearranged our space to allow for social distancing. We have even taken the precaution to quarantine our receiving before we incorporate those items into the system.

The National Concrete Masonry Association has provided some valuable resources to help our customers during this time:

New resources available today:

- NCMA Tools on 'Essential' Manufacturing Operations – this document provides resources to help with having your business designated as essential.
- Essential Employee Letter template – use this template letter to give your employees documentation on their need to be traveling to and from work.
- Construction/Contractor Resources - new resources were posted to the NCMA website for SRW contractors to assist them with managing coronavirus on job sites. Find them on this page (at the bottom).

We will continue to update our safety protocols as guidelines change and reliable information becomes available. We are thinking about all of our customer, business partners, friends and family during this turbulent time.
