DR. LARRY L. FISHER JR., PH.D.

Dr. Larry L. Fisher Jr. is Presiding Council Chief Sachem of the Mattakeeset Indian Nation and a Tribal Delegate to the United Nations Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues.

He earned his Doctor of Functional Medicine Degree in 2019 from KCNH (Kingdom College of Natural Health) a tribal school of choice of the Mattakeeset Indian Tribe followed by his doctorate in orthomolecular medicine in 2021. He is a Licensed Ecclesiastical Holistic Practitioner and Certified Addictions Recovery Coach and Substance Use Counselor with expertise in individual and group therapy. Fisher has lectured at several educational institutions including Harvard University, Yale University, Boston College, and Roger Williams University. Most recently, Dr. Fisher has conducted research on the impact of Covid 19 on unrecognized tribes in the U.S.

He is the author of two books " Microorganisms Theory: "A guide into the causative factor of disease and Native American Science" and "Tribal Plasticity: An exploration into the realities between recognized and unrecognized tribes in the U.S." Currently he is working on his third book "An AlterNATIVE Approach to Addiction: An in-depth understanding on how functional medicine plays a critical role in an overwhelming world of the Addiction Epidemic." Dr. Fisher currently volunteers his time as the Principal Investigator for Bartron Medical Imaging, an Indigenous owned and operated Medical manufacturing and R&D company located in New Haven CT. and is a member of the Guardian Ecclesiastical Medical Association and the American Association of Natural Wellness Practitioners.
