

WALT BOHN continued...

Walt has one large greenhouse that is about the size of a two-car garage and a smaller one next to it he calls "the annex." Both greenhouses have heated floors which allow him to begin growing even when the outside temperatures are low.

The season has started well and he has lots of seedlings and young plants sprouting. He hopes that he will still be able to offer plants at a spring sale for church members but the "stay home" order could impact his plans. Church members will be kept informed.
