

St. Clement's Episcopal Church, Rancho Cordova Presents:

The Gospel Through "Her" Eyes

A Four Sermon Series by Four Prominent Women Leaders

What is the Good News of Jesus Christ that you are called to and are passionate to proclaim?

Sandra T. Montes, September 27th , 10am

Sandra T. Montes was born in Peru and grew up in Guatemala and Texas. Her passions are God, family, music, education, writing, social justice, encouraging others to use their voice, and helping to tear down racist and exclusive systems that try to keep people down.

Sandra earned her doctorate in education in 2016 and is a full-time freelance consultant, writer and musician. Presently she works for the Episcopal Church Foundation and is the Interim Director of Worship at Union Theological Seminary. Her book, Becoming REAL and Thriving in Ministries, came out in May.

Rola Al Ashkar, October 11th, 10am

Rola Al Ashkar is a native of Lebanon. Through her position in Multicultural Ministry at Parkview Presbyterian Church, she has served the Presbytery of Sacramento through educating churches about Christianity and the challenges of ministry in the Middle East. She served the refugee community by providing services, organizing cultural events that connect Arabic Speaking refugees to faith communities and engaging in ecumenical dialogues to empower Arab refugees.

Al Ashkar is Passionate about yoga, dancing, fitness, and the outdoors.

Ebony Grisom, October 25th, 10am

Rev. Ebony Grisom is a pastor and protestor who preaches the Gospel in the pulpit and the public square. An ordained American Baptist, you can also find her in a Godly Play Circle where she encounters God as a storyteller and a Missioner.

Kelly Skilton, November 8th, 10am

My passions are youth, community engagement, pastoral care, spiritual guidance, faith development, discipleship, theological formation, camp culture and leadership development.

I founded an ecumenical youth and young adults collaborative ministry—The Sonder Collective. The purpose is to consult, combine and gift our resources so individuals, and congregations, can be uplifted just as they are within their ministries and faith.
