

Mary Peloquin-Dodd has been the Associate Vice Chancellor for Finance and University Treasurer (AVC) at North Carolina State University since her appointment in May 2012. She served twice as NC State's Interim Vice Chancellor for Finance and Administration—the first time in 2015 and the second from 2018-2019.

In her position as Associate Vice Chancellor and University Treasurer, she oversees all Central Finance Departments including University Cashiers Office, Contracts and Grants, Controller's Office, Foundations Accounting and Investments, and Procurement and Business Services. She is Treasurer for nearly all of the University's foundations, and President of the NC State University Partnership Corporation. She is also an officer of the University's Endowment Fund, and the NC State Investment Fund, Inc. Before joining NC State, Mary was a Managing Director at Standard & Poor's in New York, and Senior Analytical Leader of the US Higher Education and Not-for-Profit Corporate Ratings Group. Mary spent nearly 25 years at S&P, and became a widely known analyst in the field of higher education finance. She holds both an undergraduate and graduate degree from UNC-Chapel Hill. She serves on the Board of the Treasury Institute for Higher Education.
