

Supporting Children with Disabilities in Early Childhood Environments

A FREE Virtual Professional Development Community

Are you an Early Childhood Professional seeking:

- A supportive community of professionals that you can access from anywhere?
- Ideas for how you can promote inclusion in your school or program?
- Professional advice on challenging issues and topics?

If you answered yes to the above questions, join our ECHO!

What is an ECHO?

ECHO participants collaborate with other educators in a case-based learning environment in order to learn about evidence-based practices and develop advanced skills. Learn more about University of Denver's Project ECHO by visiting <https://morgridge.du.edu/ECHO>

What will be covered?

- Early childhood teacher's role in special education
- Managing powerful emotions - social & emotional skills
- Working with families that have children with developmental delays
- Assessing young children in early childhood environments

What will you gain?

- New ideas, strategies, and tactics to implement evidence-based practices
- Build professional networks and gain a stronger sense of community amongst early childhood educators
- Professional satisfaction and sustainability
