The Historical Society of Martin County places a high priority on protecting your privacy. This policy explains what types of information are collected by the Historical Society of Martin County's website, <https://hsmc-fl.com>, and how this information is used.

What Personally Identifiable Information is Collected Individuals that sign up to receive our newsletters voluntarily provide us with contact information (such as name and e-mail address). We may use this information for specific, limited purposes. You may "opt out" at any time, if you do not wish to receive our messages.

Cookies <https://hsmc-fl.com> uses "cookie" messages to automatically help to provide better services. They remind us who you are and your preferences for our website, based on what you've done and told us before. The "cookie" is placed in your computer and is read when you come back to our website. Cookies allow us to bring you the information and features which you're particularly interested in. They also let us track your usage at <https://hsmc-fl.com>, so we know which parts of our site are most popular. You can reject cookies or cancel them by instructing your web browser accordingly.

How Your Information May Be Used We use your personal information to provide you with personalized service, send email alerts, answer your requests, process your membership application, etc. You may choose to opt out at any time, which will cease all communications from us. We may also use your information to track visitors on our website. This allows us to see which of our features are the most popular so we can better serve our users' needs. It also lets us provide aggregate data about our traffic (not identifying you personally, but - for example - showing how many visitors use which features) to outside parties.

Email Privacy The Historical Society of Martin County and its museums, the Elliott Museum and House of Refuge, do not provide, sell, or rent email addresses to anyone outside the organization.
