5th ISEKI_Food conference, 3 – 5 July 2018, University of Hohenheim, Stuttgart, Germany

The ISEKI-Food Association in collaboration with the University of Hohenheim is organising the 5th edition of the International ISEKI Food Conference: "The Food System Approach – New challenges for Education, Research and Industry".

This 5th edition will have as driving topic "The Food System Approach – New challenges for Education, Research and Industry". A modern approach to face the societal, climate and nutritional challenges, impairing food security and the global sustainability of the food chain, has to consider all activities related to food production, processing, packaging, distribution preparation and consumption as part of a complex system where each element interacts with the other. The Food System Approach shall contribute towards good food utilisation, access and availability, taking into consideration social and environmental welfare.

The ISEKI_Food 2018 Conference is expected to attract 300 to 400 participants from all over the world. Oral and poster presentations are planned with invited lectures, given by main experts in their field. Several pre-conference events such as the 3rd International PhD workshop, will be organised.

Selected oral presentations are planned to be published in a special issue of the International Journal of Food Studies (IJFS) (<http://www.iseki-food-ejournal.com>) and the Food Research International (<https://www.journals.elsevier.com/food-research-international>).

Conference topics:

- Education: Towards an innovative eco-system for food studies
- Research: Research and innovation across boundaries
- Industry: Bridges for the food system approach - the industry as a key
