Supertunia Vista Bubblegum

Supertunias are a fast growing petunia hybrid that really puts on a show! These self-cleaning plants make great fillers for mixed containers and can also be planted on their own. If you're looking for a colorful (and forgiving!) option for full sun, check out Supertunias' variety of colors.

Characteristics:

Dimensions: Can reach up to 2' in height and 4' width!

Growth Habit: Mounding trailing

Foliage: Green

Hardiness: Annual in zone 8b, but can tolerate brief temperature dips in to the 20s!

Toxicity: Supertunias (and other petunias) are considered pet safe.

Care Requirements:

Light: Part to full sun. They prefer at least 4-6 hours of sun to encourage blooms

Water: Keep your plant moist- but not waterlogged- in the warmer months. They appreciate some time to dry out between watering- but try not to let them wilt.

Soil: Prefers relatively fertile and freely draining soil. Mix some bagged garden soil with the native soil when you plant. If you're planting in the garden, amend native soil with a bagged Garden Soil.

Fertilizer: Supertunias are vigorous growers and feeders. In order to maintain the large amount of flowers your plant will produce, add a balanced granular fertilizer after planting. If your plant is not blooming, check that it is getting enough sun and consider supplementing with a liquid feed like Fox Farms Tiger Bloom.

Pruning: While they are self-cleaning- meaning, they will shed their spent blooms on their own- Supertunias can benefit from light trimming. If your plant starts to look sparse or tired, consider cutting them back hard and giving a boost of nitrogen fertilizer or chelated iron.

Uses:

- Great for fillers in containers
- Excellent as borders or specimen in the landscape
- Great for hanging baskets

Written by Lynsey Walmsley, Bedding House Lead