

ASHI VOLUNTEER SPOTLIGHT

Attila Berces, PhD
Omixon

What committees do you serve on? The Information Technology Committee and the Communication, Engagement, and Marketing Committee.

How did you get started as a volunteer for ASHI? I was invited to join the IT committee. Later, I joined a working group that became the Communication Engagement and Marketing Committee.

How has volunteering for ASHI improved your professional development? It is great to see different perspectives and work with people from several institutions and countries.

What is your most memorable volunteer moment? The last in-person meeting in Pittsburg and all other in-person meetings were especially memorable. We talk regularly on conference calls but meet once a year.

Why do you think it is important for others to volunteer with ASHI? I encourage new members and early career scientists to get involved as volunteers so that they can benefit from getting to know the community faster.
