Meer Residents Make Donation to Local Entertainment Troupe

The Earth Angels, a high-energy performing arts group comprised of talented young Metro Detroiters, got a big surprise after their recent toe-tapping, finger-snapping concert at Jewish Senior Life's Meer Apartments on Sept. 10.

At the conclusion of the show, the appreciative residents presented the entertainers with a check for $500 toward the purchase of a new trailer needed to transport their costumes and props. Bonnie Murphy, who volunteers her time to promote and schedule appearances for the Earth Angels, a nonprofit organization, told residents that they were "the best audience in the whole wide world."

WXYZ-TV's multimedia journalist Faraz Javed was also at the event filming a television news story. JN
