

Ask Allan about his past life.

After graduating from Mumford High School and then Ferris State University, Allan pursued advertising sales in the radio industry after which he built WABX Radio, serving as Vice President and General Manager in Detroit. He moved to Chicago and ran FM100 and also built the big band station, WAIT. He moved back to Michigan and for three years, owned and operated The Edge, a Lansing radio station. He left to pursue the Trade and Barter industry where he handled media and other corporate businesses.

Everyone knows Allan! He really enjoys working with older adults and deeply appreciates the camaraderie of his peers at JSL.

When not volunteering, he loves spending time with his family, listening to music and playing harmonica. His favorite expression is "Never Give Up." JSL appreciates our volunteers and the long association we have had with Allan Wilson.
