Follow-up Testing Risks of Mammography Screening

Out of every 100 women who get a screening mammogram:

will be told that their mammograms are normal will be asked to return for additional mammograms or ultrasounds will be reassured that their mammograms are normal will be asked to return in 6 months for a follow-up exam will be recommended to have a needle biopsy

