

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE TRAINING

Serving South Asian Survivors

Presented by JFCS East Bay's Prevention & Early Intervention Program

Please join JFCS East Bay for a virtual training focused on tips and trends for serving South Asian survivors of domestic violence and intimate partner abuse.

Participants will learn about:

- The types of abuse faced by immigrants and survivors from South Asian communities.
- Trends in the South Asian landscape in regards to domestic violence.
- Recommendations on how to support South Asian survivors and those with different identities from our own.

Presenter:

Bindu Fernandes is the Executive Director at Narika, a culturally responsive domestic violence nonprofit serving immigrant and other vulnerable survivors. Bindu is passionate about leaving no survivor behind, supporting our survivors holistically (safety, financial stability, and wellness), and celebrating the various identities of our survivors and our communities.
