

CALL TO ACTION

NC SENATE BILL 801

“PROTECT SPECIAL OPS FORCES / NO DOXING”

The Problem: Special Operators and their families face grave danger at home.

- Terrorists and hostile nations have threatened harm to special operations personnel and their families in the United States. An Iranian-linked hacker group, Handala, doxed personal information of 2,379 US Marines and 400 US Navy officers in the Middle East.
- In January 2026 when Maduro was captured in Venezuela, the SF leader was doxed by the media, and Moore Co’s sheriff had to protect the SF leader’s family and his home.
- In NC, public records list personal details, such as home address, leaving personnel, their spouses and children exposed to danger, harassment, and physical tracking ("doxing").

What the Protect Special Ops Forces Bill proposes in North Carolina:

- Shields Special Ops from NC Public Records
- Gives NC Address Confidentiality for Special Ops and family members
- Establishes Civil Penalties in NC

Please contact NC Legislators and urge them to sponsor and vote YES on S 801.

Constituents rarely call a member’s office. When they do, it has impact, and it is easy to do!

Call the NC Legislature at (919) 733-4111; Link to: NC Legislature website

Here’s what information to give, along with your thanks:

- Your name and if you are a constituent
- The bill or issue are you calling about and your position on the bill (for or against)
- Make your request of the member (to support/pass the bill, or to oppose it)
- Staffers keep a record of the number of callers on a bill and the action the callers request
- Staffers are busy and rarely want to discuss the merits of the bill
- Leaving a voice mail message with the basic information is equally valid and counts

S 801 protects Special Ops forces and their families from targeting by restricting public access to personal records and penalizing malicious online exposure.

Primary Sponsors: Senators Tom McInnis, Michael Lazzara, Danny Britt.
