

2019 Cycling Network Projects

Traffic calming, protected bike lanes, and active transportation improvements

Whats Happening?

The City of Victoria is continuing to build its active transportation network with 3 new projects in 2019. There are a number of opportunities for the community to get involved in the design process. Help us explore the options, ideas and strategies to improve safety and balance the needs of all road users.

Learn more at www.victoria.ca/cycling

Harbour Road

A two-way protected bike lane connecting the Galloping Goose Trail and the Johnson Street Bridge multi-use pathway

Hillside / Quadra north-south connection

Traffic calming and intersection improvements from Bay Street to Tolmie Road through Hillside/Quadra

Vancouver Street

Traffic calming and intersection improvements through North Park and Fairfield and protected bike lanes from Balmoral Road to Meares Street

Upcoming Engagement Opportunities

On-line info and survey: victoria.ca/cycling (April 1 - April 26)

On-street info stations: Sunday, April 7 (see map for locations)

Open Houses & Design Workshops

- Saturday, April 6th - 10-1pm at Victoria City Hall
- Monday, April 8th - 11-1pm & 3-5pm at Victoria City Hall

If you would like to receive cycling network updates email engage@victoria.ca to be added to our distribution list for cycling network updates and consultations.

2019 Cycling Network Projects

Traffic calming, protected bike lanes, and active transportation improvements

Whats Happening?

The City of Victoria is continuing to build its active transportation network with 3 new projects in 2019. There are a number of opportunities for the community to get involved in the design process. Help us explore the options, ideas and strategies to improve safety and balance the needs of all road users.

Learn more at www.victoria.ca/cycling

Harbour Road

A two-way protected bike lane connecting the Galloping Goose Trail and the Johnson Street Bridge multi-use pathway

Hillside / Quadra north-south connection

Traffic calming and intersection improvements from Bay Street to Tolmie Road through Hillside/Quadra

Vancouver Street

Traffic calming and intersection improvements through North Park and Fairfield and protected bike lanes from Balmoral Road to Meares Street

Upcoming Engagement Opportunities

On-line info and survey: victoria.ca/cycling (April 1 - April 26)

On-street info stations: Sunday, April 7 (see map for locations)

Open Houses & Design Workshops

- Saturday, April 6th - 10-1pm at Victoria City Hall
- Monday, April 8th - 11-1pm & 3-5pm at Victoria City Hall

If you would like to receive cycling network updates email engage@victoria.ca to be added to our distribution list for cycling network updates and consultations.

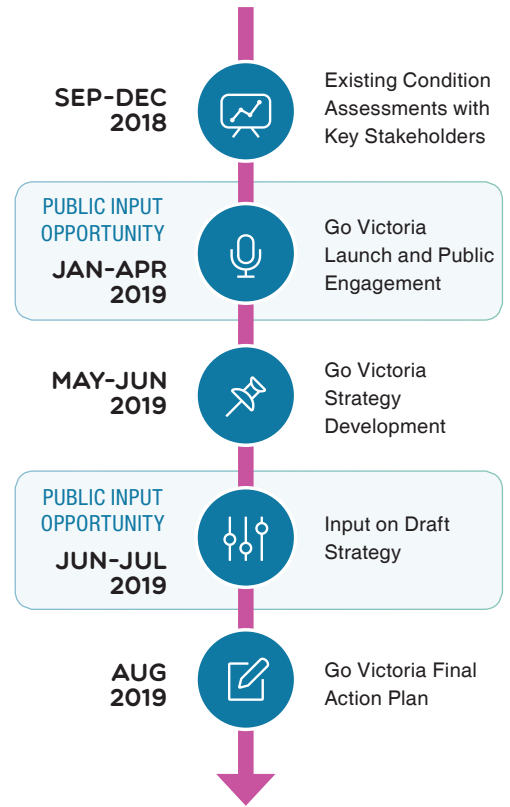

Go Victoria will establish a new framework for moving people, goods and services, and will identify strategies and indicators for assessing the performance of transportation in our capital city.

We want to hear from you – whether you walk, roll, bike, bus, move goods and services, catch/offer rides, or drive – on how to improve transportation safety, mobility options, and enhance the overall experience of getting around. Learn about the city’s existing transportation network and help define the vision for transportation over the coming decades.

Join the conversation at victoria.ca/govictoria

For project updates - send an email to engage@victoria.ca

PROJECT TIMELINE

Go Victoria will establish a new framework for moving people, goods and services, and will identify strategies and indicators for assessing the performance of transportation in our capital city.

We want to hear from you – whether you walk, roll, bike, bus, move goods and services, catch/offer rides, or drive – on how to improve transportation safety, mobility options, and enhance the overall experience of getting around. Learn about the city’s existing transportation network and help define the vision for transportation over the coming decades.

Join the conversation at victoria.ca/govictoria

For project updates - send an email to engage@victoria.ca

PROJECT TIMELINE

