

Start your native perennial garden!
WINTER SOWING NATIVE PERENNIALS

Middlesex Public Library – Community Room

Saturday, February 11 • 1:00pm

To Register Online: <https://tinyurl.com/wintersowing2023>

Or Call the Library at (732) 356-6602

If you've ever thought about sowing seeds for your garden over the winter but weren't sure where to start, this is the workshop for you! Did you know that many of our native plant seeds need to experience the cold to be able to germinate and bloom in the spring? Did you know you can start planting your garden now? Join us to learn more about the process of starting your native plant garden from seeds this season! We'll discuss the importance of native plants and build our own winter sowing starter kit to take home out of recycled materials.

Containers, native perennial seeds, and potting soil will be provided.

One lucky attendee will take home Doug Tallamy's book "Nature's Best Hope"