

Student-Senior Isolation Prevention Partnership (SSIPP)

Who Are We?

SSIPP was created by a group of medical students to assist socially isolated older adults during the COVID outbreak.

We work to partner health professional students with older adults to provide social connection and person empowerment.

Our 80+ health professional students volunteers from Schulich School of Medicine and Dentistry are fluent in many languages, and they all share our common mission

Our Mission

To pair socially isolated older adults with a health professional student volunteer who will check-in via weekly phone calls in order to provide social connection.

Connect with Us

Health professionals across Southwestern Ontario: we invite you to recommend us to older adults from your practice/organization who are at risk of social isolation and who may benefit from a weekly phone check-in.
