

Economic Stimulus Consulting - a New Offering from
The Strategic Partnerships Team

The SPI Team of consultants and researchers (80+ strong) has served as business development experts for some of the largest government contractors in the world for the past 25 years. Public-private partnering initiatives are what we do best!

For the first time ever, the team is offering services to public entities in need of economic stimulus, job creation, and new sources of revenue. Consultants and researchers have decades of experience in government, collaborative initiatives, identification of alternative funding sources ... and much more.

- Every engagement will be customized.
- Multiple consultants will work with researchers on every engagement.
- Interactions with stakeholders will be handled by teleconferences, zoom meetings, and other means of communication.

The SPI team may have to limit engagements initially ... so reach out very soon if there is interest.
