

2020 Annual Conference Call for Presentations

CONFERENCE TITLE

Dreaming Big Together: Youth Justice Reimagined

DATES

Hill Day - June 3, 2020

Conference Dates - June 4-6, 2020

LOCATION

Grand Hyatt - Washington

1000 H St NW

Washington, DC 20001

DESCRIPTION

Each year, the Coalition for Juvenile Justice (CJJ) hosts a national conference uniquely focused on improving juvenile justice and delinquency prevention systems, services, practices and policies. More than 400 juvenile justice practitioners and advocates from across the U.S. and its territories are expected to attend. For more information about CJJ, please visit www.juvjustice.org.

The full conference will take place on June 3-6. This year, the conference will focus on the latest research, developments, and challenges facing our field today. Specifically:

- How can states and communities serve as leaders in shaping a better juvenile justice system for our most vulnerable youth?
- How can we improve collaborations with young people with lived experiences in the systems we work with?
- What can be done to build on successes and continue to improve systems so that they best serve young people, including those touching multiple systems?
- What role do advocacy and public health play as communities seek to improve services and provide for trauma-informed care that addresses and heals multi-generational trauma?

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

CJJ invites proposals for concurrent workshop sessions to be held on June 4- June 6. The Conference Planning Committee will select a maximum of twenty-eight (28) presentations in total.

Workshops will be slotted into one of three tracks:

Skills, Tools or Training—workshops in this track will focus on providing information that has practical application to the work of one or more constituents of juvenile justice stakeholders and/or provides participants with new tools or skills. For example, a successful workshop proposal might train State Advisory Group members and allies on how to identify and avoid implicit bias in their work.

Promising Practices—workshops in this track will focus on providing participants with information on new and emerging information being gleaned from promising practices and home-grown programs that may not yet be peer-reviewed and evaluated. For example, a successful workshop proposal might share lessons that practitioners are beginning to learn about how to effectively ensure young people exit the justice system to safe, stable, and secure housing.

Policy and Advocacy—workshops in this track will focus on providing participants with information or tools that they need to further key juvenile justice change efforts, or how to induce policymakers and others to implement change in juvenile justice practice or systems. For example, a successful workshop proposal might provide an overview of policies that provide alternatives to school-based referrals to juvenile court.

Bridging Research, Practice, & Policy—workshops in this track will focus on providing participants with the latest research and its implications for policy and/or practice. This could include information on research-practice partnerships, risk assessment and predictive analytic tools, and original findings from peer-reviewed longitudinal studies, meta-analyses, program evaluations, and other relevant studies. For example, a successful proposal might discuss the findings and implications of a study that examined the perceptions fairness by young people in the system.

Successful workshop proposals will include no fewer than three of the following elements:

- Overview of the issue and its current status
- Learning principles
- Current and future practice implications
- Current and future policy implications or opportunities for advocacy
- Explanation of the role of key juvenile justice stakeholders or call to action
- Skills or tools to take away from the session

GUIDELINES FOR SUBMISSION

About the Coalition for Juvenile Justice (CJJ)

CJJ envisions a nation where fewer children are at risk of delinquency; and if they are at risk or involved with the justice system, they and their families receive every possible opportunity to live safe, healthy and fulfilling lives.

CJJ is a nationwide coalition of State Advisory Groups (SAGs) and allies dedicated to preventing children and youth from becoming involved in the courts and upholding the highest standards of care when youth are charged with wrongdoing and enter the justice system.

CJJ members include concerned individuals, practitioners, advocates and youth who voluntarily serve at the state and national levels. CJJ is governed by an Executive Board of national and regional officers. All of CJJ's formal positions on policy and related matters are developed and approved by a super-majority of the CJJ Council of State Advisory Groups (SAGs). The Council comprises the Chairs or Chair-designees of SAGs holding membership in CJJ.
