

VISITING SCHOLAR

Matt Glover

Making books to engage and nurture the youngest writers

When:

Aug 19, 2017
8:30 a.m. – 2:30 p.m.

Where:

Butler University,
Jordan Hall, Rm 141

ABOUT US

The Indiana Partnership for Young Writers, a program of the Butler University College of Education, provides ongoing and in-depth professional development in the teaching of reading, writing and math to teachers in grades K-8. The Partnership is committed to inquiry-based workshop teaching that sustains students' lifelong academic and workplace success.

Learn more at
www.indianayoungwriters.org.

Young children thrive in active, hands-on environments where making books is one of many options they can choose during the day.

Visiting scholar Matt Glover expands on the ideas in Already Ready, a book he co-authored with Katie Wood Ray, to help pre-K and Kindergarten teachers:

- Make sense of children's early writing
- Recognize important developmental signs of writing
- Connect the thinking and language that young children use to thinking and language of more experienced writers
- Develop strategies for supporting children's growth

Young children are filled with stories to tell and ideas to express. Matt will help you discover new ways to nurture these natural tendencies and help students understand the writing process and what it means to be a writer.

For more information or to register, visit
www.indianayoungwriters.org

For accessibility information or to request disability-related accommodations, please visit
<http://www.butler.edu/event-accommodations/>

Also coming soon:

Inquiry-based literacy
Heidi Mills
Nov 4, 2017

Deeper readers, writers
Kelly Gallagher
Feb 3, 2018