The Danville Youth Health Equity Leadership Institute (YHELI) is a new and FREE leadership program in the Danville area! Danville YHELI strives to give high school students access to resources and mentoring opportunities to be successful during their schooling and beyond. As a Danville YHELI member our goal is for our leaders to successfully graduate on time and succeed in having a fulfilling future! The program holds summer leadership training over a four week period and during the school year, Danville YHELI students will meet one hour a week for 10 weeks per semester. This competitive program is a four-year commitment. Helping Danville YHELI leaders excel throughout high school into successful careers and educational progress.

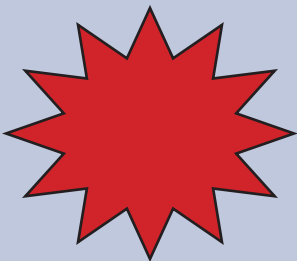

How will YHELI help ME?

As a participant you will develop leadership skills, make new friends, learn from other students as well as Danville YHELI instructors, speak with different leaders in the Danville community, and explore different topic discussions impacting Danville that you can help change! Danville YHELI also helps students meet and receive mentors, tutoring sessions in high school courses and engagement in community service and career development outings! Our program can positively change the lives of not only you, but also your friends, families, and the Danville community!

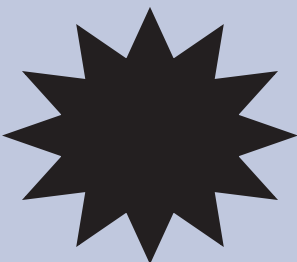

What will I learn?

As a Danville YHELI leader you will learn and discuss topics such as leadership development, critical thinking, bullying, teen health, self-esteem, career planning, and much more!

Who will be Involved?

Danville YHELI chooses 60 student leaders to participate in the program that will participate in Danville YHELI from 9th grade through 12th grade! Members are selected based on leadership skills and teacher recommen-

How can I be a part of YHELI?

Danville YHELI is only eligible for students attending George Washington and Langston Focus High Schools. If you're an incoming freshman, please contact us for an application! Danville YHELI is a four-year commitment and all participants are expected to successfully complete the program!
