ON TO THE NEXT BOOK

The new Inste semester has begun! Monday evening our group took the first test for Old Testament Survey. This lesson is the one where the students must write the Old Testament books in order from memory, and they did very well. The discussion was lively and helpful as well.

The group met on our veranda, and even though it was Trying to remember the Old Testament books in order

warm enough when we started, by the time we finished, we were wearing jackets and blankets. Next week we will probably have to move our meetings inside again.

We commend all six students for their determination to extend their Bible knowledge and to enhance their relationship with the Lord. We are off to a good start.

Our goal from the beginning has been to find someone to be the leader of the Inste groups in Gherla. This next semester we will be focusing on finding the right person to lead not only this group but also to begin more Inste groups here and in other churches. Join us as we pray for God's leading as we seek this person.
