THIRD GRADE WORKS ON COLLABORATIVE SHAPES MURAL IN THE JKHA ART STUDIO

The students in Third Grade are working on a collaborative shapes mural as the culminating project of their Shapes unit. Students reviewed their knowledge of the differences between geometric shapes and organic shapes before gathering around the large white banner where they began painting their mural. The students used thin brushes and black tempera paint to create the shape drawings first, working carefully side-by-side, all at the same time! For the color portion, the students will democratically decide on a set color palette, according to each shape, in order to create a small sense of order to the creative-free flowing mural painting. What colors will the students choose next?
