Jaimee began her Daring to Rest journey along with her metastatic Breast cancer diagnosis. It quickly became a tool that dissolved her panic and anxiety, making life and medical decisions grounded in rest instead of stress. She found herself doing it during her medical scans, other treatment therapies and to be at peace in her home. She quickly realized the need for rest to heal and certified as a Daring to Rest™ Yoga Nidra Facilitator in order to offer rest medicine to others dealing with a cancer diagnosis. Jaimee has been able to curate a special hour offering to many with a cancer diagnosis and the transformation for participants have been life changing in learning ways to manage and navigate their diagnosis as well as skills to help thrive in life.

Jaimee has been a healer for over 20 years and is trained as a massage therapist, oncology massage, craniosacral and lymph drainage therapist. She is a wellness navigator (as health and life coach) as well as previous owner and operator of her own wellness center where she was a creatrix of connection and creator of a welcoming energy and space. She is a mom, wife and cancer thriver. She works with women to help them find and become aligned with their inner voice for healing through rest and life coaching. Jaimee has successfully taken on the role of manager at any job she’s had, and in her current position, she is most proud of her role in advocating for and managing her own health throughout breast cancer and now metastatic breast cancer.

Jaimee believes that when you create space to deeply rest, you can dive deep into the dark and discover the strength to transform and realign with your path.

Jaimee resides in the hills of western Massachusetts with her husband and daughter and her two dogs. Her older daughter lives in Atlanta. And older son in western Massachusetts attending college. Jaimee spends her free time finding stillness in the woods and overlooking a nearby lake. As well, she enjoys laughter, dancing, hiking and connecting with close friends for tea or coffee on her couch.
