OUR Board Chair

The Charles County business community is unlike any other. We have a long history of being invested in one another. The Chamber is strong in our support for local businesses, and I am honored to serve as your Board Chair this year. I have been an advocate for local businesses for a long time, and it's been my mission to make sure that the Charles County business community thrives for years to come. Serving in this role allows me to continue to do just that.

As a board, our vision for 2025 is to get back to the foundation that built us into the powerful organization we are today while also capitalizing on the huge successes we've seen since then. We will continue to create spaces where businesses can support each other. We will continue to encourage the community to support local businesses and our members. We will continue to provide resources for businesses to grow. We will continue to be a voice for the community, whether through pushing for legislation that supports local businesses or navigating permitting issues. We will continue to show that we are better when we work together. You can bet on us.

Seeing all the new businesses in this directory along with our long-term business staples in the community is encouraging. This is not just another business directory. These are the businesses of your neighbors, friends, and community peers. When you support the businesses in this directory, you directly support

Charles County. As you read through this directory, bet on our members for business needs you may have.

If you are a member of our chamber already, I encourage you to get involved. You see the best return from your membership when you're engaged. We want to get to know you. We want to get to know your business. We have committees for everything from marketing, events, and fundraising to legislation and governance. We also have a men's and women's leadership club. If time doesn't allow for those, we have lunch and learn classes each month that focus on business growth. We have monthly mixers where you may meet your next client. We have signature events. There is so much to take advantage of.

Sincerely,
Natonya Thomas
Board Chair

OUR Vice Chair

Dear Fellow Business Owners, It's my pleasure to welcome you to this year's Membership Directory—a powerful snapshot of the incredible network we've built together.

As we continue to navigate the impacts of a shifting economy, I want to remind you: we are not alone. The strength of our business community lies in our collaboration, resourcefulness, and unwavering support for one another. That's why this year's theme, "Bet on the Chamber," couldn't be more fitting.

When you bet on the Chamber, you're investing in shared success. You're choosing connection over isolation, progress over hesitation, and leadership in the face of uncertainty. Let's keep showing up for each other, finding creative ways to grow, building on synergy and using the Chamber as the trusted resource and voice for our local business community.

Thank you for your continued dedication—and for betting on something that always pays off... each other.

Yours in Service,
LaKeysha Moore
2025 Vice Chair

CHARLES COUNTY COMMISSIONER President

We are proud of the thriving small business community here in Charles County. These businesses are the economic engine that keeps the county moving forward, supplying a wealth of goods and services to all who live, work, and visit here. The county continues to grow in population and diversity and is home to some of Maryland's highest household incomes. In fact, last year Charles County was recognized as the most prosperous majority-black county in Maryland. With this economic growth comes new opportunities for our business community.

Charles County measures its success by both growing our small businesses and creating an environment that attracts new investment. Our Board of County Commissioners has worked to raise Charles County's profile within the private sector, to make sure small businesses know all that we have to offer. We want Charles County to be known as a place where new commercial operations and entrepreneurial ventures can get established, expand, and create jobs. To support that effort, we have approved legislation to support smart growth, adopted zoning changes, and streamlined our permitting processes to make sure Charles County is open for business. We appreciate the partnership of the Chamber of Commerce to bring us together to facilitate connections and build partnerships that help our community prosper and thrive. We appreciate their efforts to provide networking opportunities, training, roundtable discussions, and more to ensure everyone is working together to sustain lasting success. We are excited to work with them to support our small business community, as they are a bedrock for spurring continued growth and vitality in our flourishing suburban county.

LA PLATA Mayor

Our County is so fortunate to have an active and growing Chamber of Commerce that plays a crucial role in our community! From advocating for local businesses on issues like regulations, taxes, and fees to providing valuable resources such as business guides, market research, and training programs, the Chamber is an indispensable partner in fostering economic growth and development.

This vital partnership with the Town of La Plata has significantly contributed to advancing our economic goals. By combining our resources, expertise, and networks, we are strengthening the local economy and enhancing the quality of life for all residents.

As a community representative on the board, the Chamber ensures that the initiatives we pursue are inclusive, equitable, and reflective of our diverse community needs. Open channels for feedback further guarantee that our efforts remain sustainable and beneficial in the long term.

The Town of La Plata is committed to maintaining a transparent, responsive, and proactive approach to community and economic development. Together, we are building a vibrant and prosperous future for La Plata.

Respectfully,
Jeannine E. James
Mayor Town of La Plata

ECONOMIC Development Director

What does progress look like in Charles County? Sometimes, it's the sight of a construction site breaking ground along Billingsley Road or a ribbon-cutting in the heart of La Plata or Indian Head. But more often, it happens behind the scenes—a home-based business receiving its first grant, a contractor securing a government subcontract with the Naval Surface Warfare Center, or an entrepreneur connecting with a mentor through one of our partner programs. Even when it's not visible, progress is happening every day as we work to build a more resilient, opportunity-rich future for our residents and businesses.

Over the past year, the Economic Development Department has focused on developing the systems, tools, and spaces that make those moments possible. As we continue to grow our Circle of Services—a collaborative network of local, regional, and state partners—we remain committed to ensuring that no business moves forward alone. Our goal is to ensure that companies of all sizes have access to the resources, programs, and relationships they need to grow and thrive right here in Charles County.

Here are a few highlights from the past year that reflect our commitment to sustainable and inclusive economic growth:

- The Western Charles County Technology Corridor is gaining momentum and represents one of our most transformative initiatives to date. Designed to attract companies in key sectors—such as advanced manufacturing, biotechnology, professional services, and research and development—this corridor is envisioned as a hub where innovation meets infrastructure in Bryans Road, the Town of Indian Head, and surrounding areas. It reflects our long-term vision of creating high-quality jobs and supporting balanced, strategic growth in the western part of the County.
- Earlier this year, we conducted a survey of federal employees and contractors impacted by employment changes. In response, we launched an online Government Transition Resource Hub to connect individuals with retraining opportunities, entrepreneurial support, and job placement services. This tool will continue to evolve with input from the community and partners as we work to deliver responsive and targeted resources.
- As part of our commitment to economic equity, we are preparing to launch a new digital portal for our Minority and Women-Owned Business Enterprise (MWBE) program. This effort builds on the findings of the 2021 Disparity Study and is designed to help small, diverse businesses in Charles County access certification and compete for government procurement opportunities. We also welcomed Anthony Twyman as our new MWBE/DBE Compliance Manager, a position dedicated to monitoring and enhancing program performance and ensuring equitable access.

Charles County's digital gift card program, With Love From Charles, continues to be a successful county-wide initiative encouraging residents and visitors to shop local. This collaborative effort between the Economic Development Department and the Department of Recreation, Parks, and Tourism has grown to include thirty-one participating businesses—and counting. As more businesses join, the greater the impact. By keeping dollars circulating locally, we're supporting independent retailers and contributing to our community's overall economic vitality.

Economic development in Charles County is about more than buildings or business attraction—it's about creating the conditions that allow our residents to thrive, our communities to prosper, and our local economy to remain strong and competitive. Our partnership with the Charles County Chamber of Commerce is an essential part of that effort, and we're proud to collaborate in supporting existing businesses, attracting new investment, and shaping a bright economic future for our County.

THE COLLEGE OF SOUTHERN MD President

Since joining the College of Southern Maryland (CSM) in 2023 as its sixth president, I've been continually impressed by the numerous ways our communities come together to support not only the social and economic mobility of our students, but the growth and prosperity of our entire region.

A highly educated and skilled labor force are key indicators for positive business retention and expansion, and educational attainment contributes to the vibrancy of our business communities. These are key metrics for economic development, and CSM is proud to collaborate with our regional partners to ensure that the local labor market needs of area businesses are being met.

Through meaningful engagement with our government, business, and education partners, we're working tirelessly to achieve these goals in alignment with the three pillars of our 2024-2029 Built for Success Strategic Plan: Access, Momentum, and Mobility.

CSM offers high-quality, low cost, and relevant instructional programs that empower students to create positive impacts for themselves and their families. Adult students already in the workforce can receive college credits for existing skills and knowledge through prior work experience, military training, industry certifications, and more, through CSM's Credit for Prior Learning.

Our instructional pathways are designed to keep students on track to completion, equipping them with in-demand skills so that they can get to work faster. Industry and community partners play an active role in guiding our instructional offerings to ensure CSM grads are ready to fulfill the demands of the labor market. Robust STEM programs prepare graduates to meet the emerging and evolving needs of employers in our region, fueling the economic engine of Southern Maryland.

CSM is the region's first choice for accessible, inclusive, and innovative education that transforms communities, and we look forward to partnering with you as, together, we work toward community success and pathways to mobility.

As the Superintendent of Charles County Public Schools, I find it very meaningful to serve as a community member on the Charles County Chamber of Commerce board. Participating in meetings and events further enhances my understanding of the needs of local businesses at-large and ensures CCPS is a supportive partner in the economic development of the county. Pathways to Growth, Development and Mobility Start at the College of Southern Maryland

Find Yours at the College of Southern Maryland The College of Southern Maryland (CSM) is proud to serve Charles, Calvert, and St. Mary's counties and promote social and economic mobility for its students through high-quality, low cost, and relevant instructional programs. CSM is a convener and a connector, building pathways for students to achieve their goals and potential. CSM recognizes that work of this magnitude cannot be done in isolation; it must be done in collaboration and requires working alongside our partners to make a positive impact in the lives of those we are honored to serve.

The college meets this task everyday by collaborating with governments, businesses, and community partners to build coalitions, meaningful partnerships, and workforce pipelines. For that reason, CSM is the region's first choice for accessible, inclusive, and innovative education that transforms communities."

Workforce Development

CSM served more than 14,000 credit and continuing education students in 2023-24 at its locations in Hughesville, Indian Head, La Plata, Leonardtown, and Prince Frederick. CSM's continuing education student population encompasses half of the college's total enrollment, and our community partners turn to us to serve them as a workforce pipeline and trainer of choice.

The Regional Hughesville Campus hosts the college's Center for Trades and Energy Training (CTET) and the new Center for Health Sciences. CTET is the region's premier training center for a multitude of skilled trades and crafts. CSM is proud to also partner with local businesses to connect students, employees, and employers by providing highly specialized training through certifications, micro-credentials, and digital badges that align with desired competencies.

CSM's Center for Health Sciences opened in 2023 at the Regional Hughesville Campus. The state-of-the art center is the continuation of the college's commitment to provide local communities with highly-trained, responsive, and patient-centered healthcare professionals. This cutting-edge facility is fully equipped for turning theory into practice and exceptional training into standard-setting patient care.

On the other side of Charles County, the Velocity Center at Indian Head is a catalyst for economic development, innovation, and creativity. The Velocity Center is home to the Makerspace, a collaborative workspace where members of the community can come to create, make, learn, and explore using 3D printers/scanners, laser cutters, and other additive and subtractive machines for manufacturing, as well as hardware and software for cybersecurity, gaming, CAD modeling, simulation, app development, robotics, and prototyping. In addition, the Velocity Center offers spaces for hosting meetings and events. To learn more about the CSM Velocity Center visit csm.edu/velocitycenter businesses to have the tri-county region recognized as an ACT® Work Ready Community. The Work Ready Community designation develops a strong workforce pipeline and certifies to businesses looking to grow or expand that Southern Maryland boasts a well-prepared and capable workforce that can meet their emerging staffing needs. It instills confidence that the region is a place where companies can grow and thrive, in turn creating jobs and fueling Southern Maryland's economic engine.

Transforming Lives and Student Success

When you enroll at CSM, you don't just get an education; you get the support of a caring community of faculty, staff, and fellow students.

CSM offers a range of associate degree programs, certificate programs, letters of recognition, and continuing education courses for professional and career development, and tuition and fees are typically half the cost of that of a state four-year public university. CSM students can further their education with more than 300 transfer and articulation agreements that offer guaranteed admission to more than 70 four-year colleges and universities nationwide.

In the past five years, the CSM Foundation has awarded more than $4.6 million in scholarships for credit and workforce development programs to more than 3,000 students.

No one should have to choose between affording to learn and affording to live, which is why the CSM Foundation and its Student Life team partner with the Maryland Food Bank and community organizations to distribute thousands of pounds of free food to students experiencing food insecurity, through our Hawk Pantry locations on three campuses.

CSM is one of the largest veteran-serving colleges or universities in Maryland, and in 2022, CSM was accepted. In 2022, CSM was accepted into the U.S. Military's Cyber Command (CYBERCOM) Academic Engagement Network.

CSM offers a robust extra- and co-curricular experience for students, with more than a dozen student clubs, including the National Society of Black Engineers, the Men of Excellence, the Women of Excellence, SAGE, E.X.I.T.O International, and CSM's world-ranked Talons robotics team.

The college offers interactive personal enrichment classes for all ages, driver education and motorcycle training, Kids' and Teen College, homeschool classes, and summer enrichment programs.

CSM has also partnered with the Charles County Public School system to offer an Early College program for high school juniors and seniors, in addition to Dual Enrollment options.

At CSM, you can choose from a wide variety of quality programs designed to help meet professional and personal goals - be it a new career, expanding a knowledge base, or exploring a new hobby. Find your pathway to possibility at CSM.

Non-Profit ORGANIZATIONS

Nonprofit organizations are the heart and soul of a community

Charles County is home to over 780 nonprofit organizations that strengthen the fabric of our Southern Maryland community by providing critical services, fostering civic engagement, and contributing to the local economy.

Nonprofits fill the gaps

Our nonprofit partners help meet our society's needs by assisting the most vulnerable members of our community regardless of age, gender, race, and socioeconomic status. "Maryland Nonprofits by the Numbers," a study conducted in 2021, indicates that 80% of the registered 501(c)(3) charitable organizations in Charles County make a substantial impact in the healthcare and social assistance fields. According to the 2018 Charles County Nonprofit Economic and Social Impact Study, among the top critical needs facing residents of the county include access to affordable housing and healthcare, substance abuse support services, and assistance for the area's homeless population. Nonprofits are well-poised to fill the demand for these services, with the ongoing support of community residents and commitment of our corporate partners.

Nonprofits are varied in mission and scope. In addition to human services, many of the charitable organizations in Charles County support the arts and humanities, and provide educational programs created to enlighten and inspire our citizens about the deep history and unique culture of our region.

Nonprofits foster civic engagement

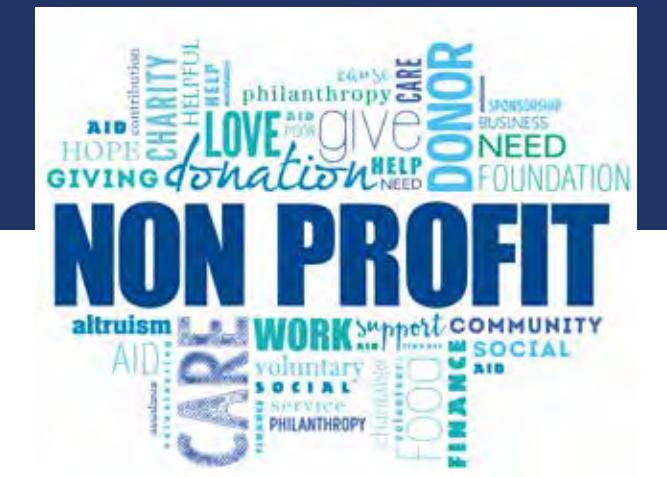

County residents contribute greatly to the success of our local nonprofit missions by volunteering their time and sharing their knowledge and expertise. Volunteering creates opportunities for collaboration and networking, skill-building and leadership development, and establishing important social bonds. Many corporate and individual partners contribute to the governance and operations of these vital organizations by serving on a board of directors, assisting with special events, and lending their personal time and talent to fulfill the needs of the nonprofit.

Nonprofits help economic health

While some nonprofits are small and are run solely by volunteers, many offer employment opportunities and generate millions of dollars in economic activity. As of 2019, the 784 nonprofits in Charles County generated over $7.1 million in revenue as identified by the 2021 Maryland Nonprofits study. In addition to the movement of goods and services channeled through nonprofits, the existence of myriad charitable organizations also helps attract the establishment of new businesses to the area, showcasing the area's values such as commitment to health and wellness, and education of its citizens. Nonprofits also create opportunities for employment. "Maryland Nonprofits by the Numbers" tells us that Charles County's nonprofit organizations have supported more than 2,500 local jobs.

Everyone in our community is touched in some way by a nonprofit's work and our county's quality of life is richer because of this vital sector.

To learn more about the nonprofit community in Charles County, please contact the Nonprofit Institute at CSM at nonprofit@csmd.edu, 301-934-7544, or www.csmd.edu/NonprofitInstitute

EXPLORE CHARLES COUNTY: LEGEND, LORE AND ROOM TO EXPLORE

Memories made in Charles County will last a lifetime. Your legendary adventure awaits! Leave big-city traffic behind and set your GPS for a destination you'll want to bookmark for later—Charles County, Maryland. Whether you're a history buff, an outdoor enthusiast, or you've got the itch to crack open some crabs, you'll find plenty to do (and eat) here. Let our idyllic country roads and expansive river views invite you to shed your responsibilities and explore with a renewed sense of awe and adventure. We're glad you're here.

CHARLES COUNTY'S FOOD ROOTS

The waters of the Potomac and Patuxent Rivers have been a food source to Charles County residents for hundreds of years. Watermen harvest succulent crabs and oysters and reel in rockfish and catfish. Head to a dockside restaurant where you can kick back with a cocktail and feel yourself unwind as you look out over the water and anticipate the boat-to-table bounty you're about to receive.

While crabs are a big part of our culture, generations of Charles County residents consider stuffed ham a holiday tradition. This classic Southern Maryland dish is believed to date back to the 17th-century and has both British and Afro-Caribbean origins. The ham is salted, deboned, and slit into several places before being stuffed with a mixture of cabbage, kale, onions, and seasonings. The ham is then wrapped, boiled or baked, sliced, and served cold. Purchase a salted ham at Hancock Family Farm or Bowling Green Farm to try this delicacy at home.

The gateway to Southern Maryland: land of natural and historic treasures. The possibilities for outdoor adventure here are endless, and we invite you to explore at your own pace. Drift through tranquil waters in the early morning light, pedal down a rail trail after lunch, and pitch a tent on a historic property. Discover acres of conservancy-protected land and miles of open spaces and shorelines along your way.

You only get 52 weekends in a year. Make them LEGENDARY. When was the last time you embraced play? Here in Charles County, we offer countless opportunities for fun for all ages.

FOSSIL HUNT AT PURSE STATE PARK

The southern shores of Maryland hold more than great seafood—they are also well-known spots for fossil hunting! Comb the beach at Purse State Park, and you're sure to leave with a pocket full of shark teeth.

KAYAK THROUGH THE GHOST FLEET OF MALLOWS BAY

Don't miss spending time exploring Mallows Bay (read more on page X), our most popular tourist attraction. The opportunity to paddle through sunken warships is incredible enough on its own, but the serene waters and bald eagles soaring overhead make this truly an unforgettable experience.

CATCH A BASEBALL GAME AT REGENCY FURNITURE STADIUM

Fun fact: Regency now boasts an electronic umpire—the same technology used in MLB. Watch "TrackMan" display stats on top of the press box while joining the rest of the "Crustacean Nation" in rooting for the Southern Maryland Blue Crabs!

Touch history at Dr. Samuel A. Mudd House

After shooting President Lincoln and fleeing Ford's Theatre, John Wilkes Booth sought medical help for his broken leg at the home of Dr. Samuel A. Mudd. On your gripping tour of this tale of murder and conspiracy, you'll grasp the same banister as Booth as you walk upstairs to see where Booth recovered.

Reel in a bass from our rivers and lakes. Anglers from near and far travel to Charles County for world-class bass fishing. Pick up some tackle and drop in a line at any of our waterfront parks. There's no better way to unwind than with a pole in hand!

Traverse the length of the Indian Head Rail Trail. What's a bucket list without a real challenge? Hit the 13 miles of this flat, paved path perfect for biking, rollerblading, or some serious strolling. The path takes you through a variety of scenic views, from forests to farmland to wetlands. You're sure to set sights on a deer, wild turkey, or bald eagle along the way—you might even see all three!

Give a standing ovation at Port Tobacco Players. You're in for a treat when you take in a show at Port Tobacco Players. From the moment you take your seat to when the final curtain closes, you'll feel the drama and excitement of this passionate theatrical community.

Naval Surface Warfare Center Indian Head Division (NSWC IHD)

The Naval Surface Warfare Center Indian Head Division (NSWC IHD) is the principal Energetics Center for the Department of Defense (DoD). The command's mission is to provide research, development, test and evaluation, and in-service support of energetics and energetics materials. As the largest DoD full spectrum energetics facility and leader in the Navy's energetics enterprise, NSWC IHD employs a workforce of over 2,400 (federal, military and contractors), of whom more than 800 are scientists, engineers and technicians. Almost 100 hold doctorates dedicated to every aspect of developing and sustaining explosives, propellants, pyrotechnics, high-energy chemicals and their application into war fighting systems. NSWC IHD performs over 60 percent of all the Navy's energetics workload.

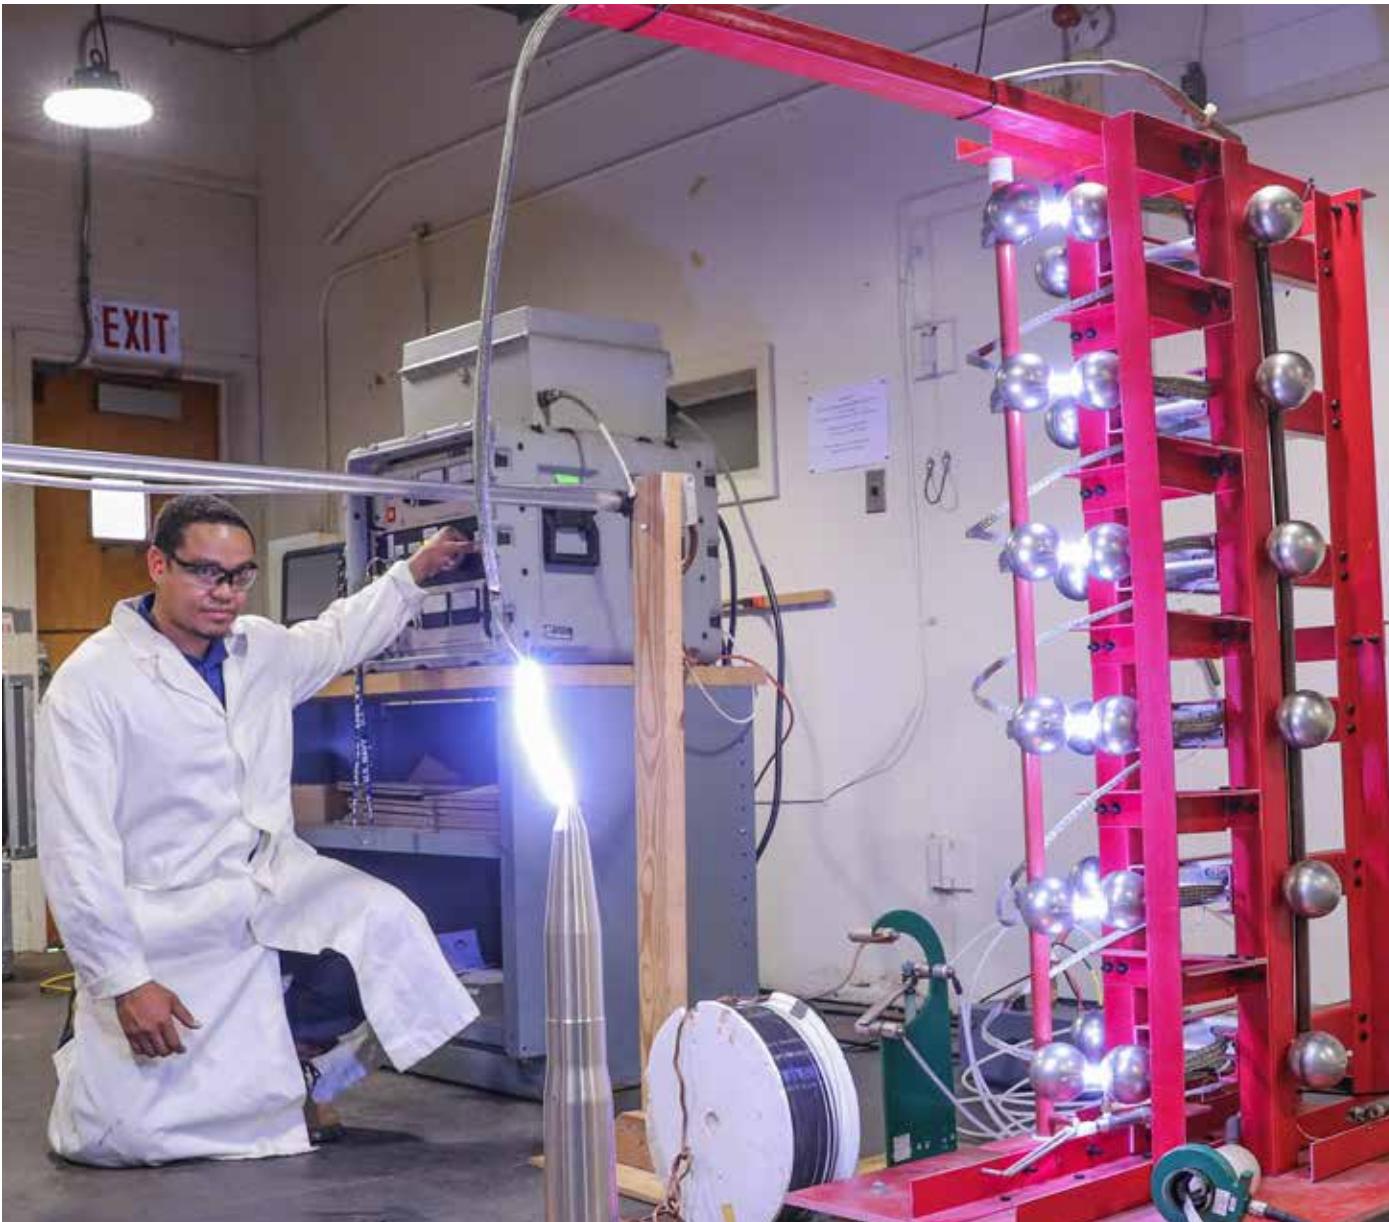

NSWC IHD also works on eliminating the hazards from unexploded ordnance that jeopardize the U.S. military and related operations. It is the DoD center of knowledge and expertise on all explosive threats including counter-explosive hazard research, development, testing and evaluation; special tool and equipment development for detection and defeat; comprehensive threat database development of tactics, techniques and procedures; and real-time technical support to Explosive Ordnance Disposal (EOD) responders. The command also operates a wide variety of state-of-the-art facilities, such as a robot range, foreign ordnance electronics exploitation laboratory, magnetic signature test facility, ordnance disassembly complex, radiography and photography laboratories, explosive test ranges, hypervelocity test facility and EOD diver complex.

In 2023-2024 the command embarked on an ambitious modernization plan that will see upwards of $2 billion dollars invested to modernize several aspects of the base over the next decade. The initiative will include the construction of new facilities as well as upgrades and renovations to several existing facilities.

Expeditionary Exploitation Unit ONE (EXU-1)

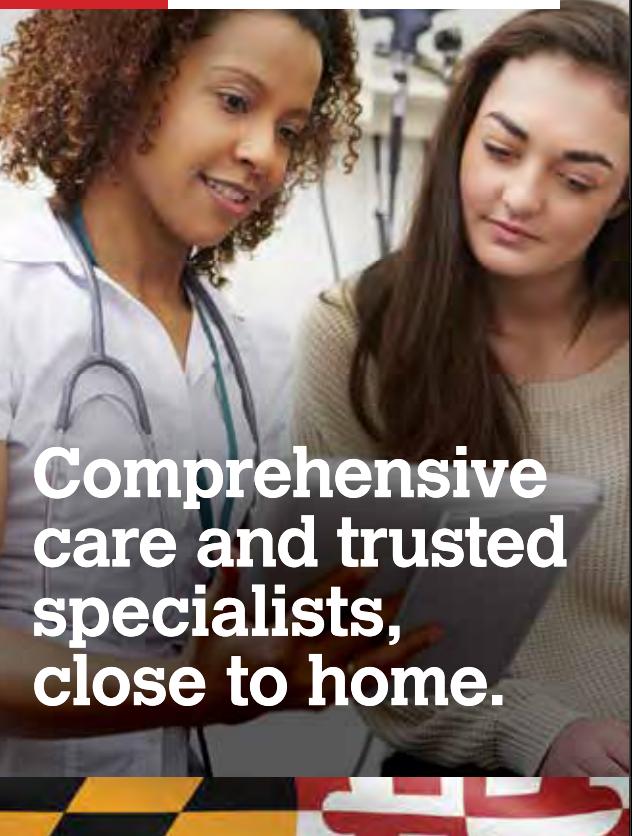

Expeditionary Exploitation Unit ONE (EXU-1) is a subordinate command under Naval Surface Warfare Center Indian Head Division. The unit consists of 150 military, civilian, and contractor personnel with the mission to deploy expeditionary exploitation capabilities globally in support of the Fleet and joint force, the Intelligence Community, Interagency, allies and partner nations. EXU-1 missions range from conventional and improvised threat exploitation, surface and maritime post-blast investigations, electronic engineering analysis, explosive chemical analysis, forensic exploitation, advanced radiography and ordnance disassembly, and technical intelligence reach-back functions. EXU-1 exploitation operations assist the Department of Defense and Intelligence Community in preventing technical surprise, developing countermeasures, and enabling attribution.
