

Biddeford Family Dentistry

Each month, we like to share an overview of a specific Chamber member to help create more awareness over time for all the fantastic and diverse businesses and organizations that combine to make our region and our Chamber so dynamic. This month's profile is on Biddeford Family Dentistry.

Dr. Vani Mallipeddi has owned the practice located at 28 West Cole Road for the past three years. Her journey has been a long and interesting one. She was born in Southern India and went to dental school there. After graduating and practicing for a year, she moved to the U.S. with her husband who was starting a new job in technology in the Washington D.C. area.

As part of immigrating to America, Dr. Mallipeddi needed to get certified here to practice dentistry, so she enrolled in a program at Boston University. After completing it, she and her husband moved to Maine when he transferred to a Scarborough-based company, and she worked in a dental practice for ten years in Portland prior to making the leap to owning her own business here in Biddeford as of 2015.

Dr. Mallipeddi's philosophy for her family practice is to be patient-centric and provide everyone with the latest advances in dental technology and practice. She completely upgraded her facility with the latest digital technology when she took over the practice, and she enjoys helping families and people of all ages benefit from her passion for great dentistry and commitment to stay current with new techniques.

As a resident for many years now of Maine, she admits that Winter is still a shock to her system each year, having grown up in such a temperate climate. But she is acclimating to the weather and she says that the open, friendly and community-based people she's met everywhere she travels in Maine more than makes up for it! She encourages all members to reach out if they'd like to learn more about her services, and looks forward to upcoming networking events to meet more members of our community.
