Employee Bio

Hi, I'm George and I'm excited to start here at Southern Scientific as the new Research and Development Engineer.

I am a recent graduate, having completed a master's degree at the University of Bath in Robotics and Autonomous Systems and before this an Undergraduate degree at Sheffield Hallam University in Electrical and Electronic Engineering.

I have recently moved to Brighton for something new and exciting. I have spent much of my time at university rowing, and so I am looking forward to exploring what Brighton has to offer.

I am very excited to start here at Southern and looking forward to meeting everyone in the team!
