

Your Mortgage Connection will continue to operate remotely during the Covid-19 lockdown to provide information and support to both new and existing clients, conducting meetings via telephone, Skype, Facetime and Zoom to help them understand their options based upon their own individual circumstances.

If you are concerned or just want to talk through your situation, we are happy offer you a free initial consultation. During this telephone meeting we will discuss the changes that are happening within the industry and will address your immediate questions without you having to call your lender and wait on what seems like endless hold times.

There may be steps you can take today that will strengthen your position tomorrow, above and beyond the 3-month payment holiday that the government has announced.

We also work in conjunction with a local Financial Adviser that we can introduce you to, should you have questions or concerns about your pensions and investments.

On a personal note, we would like to thank all the NHS workers and volunteers who are helping us fight the outbreak and I hope you all stay safe and healthy during these challenging times.
