

The Aftermarkets Largest Library of Audio Content For Personal and Business Insights, Ideas and Inspiration

Conversations with Aftermarket Professionals

Live Weekly Single Subject Panel Discussion

Opinions and Rants From Your Industry Colleagues

www.remarkableresults.biz

Connecting aftermarket professionals willing to share their wisdom so we all rise to new levels of success.

Hosted by Carm Capriotto
Honoree of the Mort Schwartz
Excellence in Education Award

Download on the App Store GET IT ON Google Play

Search for Remarkable Results Radio

Spend some time on the web site

Why Listen?

The aftermarket service professional is our industries most important player. Discover how they are growing their businesses, building strong cultures, growing their own technicians and committing to continuous training. Listen to their stories of personal achievement. The more you know about the service professional the better you can serve them.

So many ways to listen on desktop or smart devices including Apple Podcasts, Google Podcasts, iHeart Radio, Spotify, Spreaker, Stitcher Radio, Tunein.com, Player.FM and Podbean among many others. Search for 'remarkable results radio'.

Podcast Series
Service Professionals Interviews about best practices, trends, business insights, personal challenges, training, the future, technology and the challenge to learn to work on your business instead of in it.	Technician Interviews Working technicians discuss their career, training, challenges, technology, burn-out, the future, data, networking, support, specialization, advice for post secondary schools and more.
Trainers/Future Technicians Automotive aftermarket trainers keep the knowledge flowing. This series covers a wide area from apprenticeship training, school and manufacturer trainers. You will also find training event discussions and topical round-tables on the challenges and need for quality training to keep the industries technicians on the leading edge.	Business Coaches Many successful service professionals have engaged with a business coach. Accountability is a key reason along with the discipline to maintain a great business from business culture to a strong net profit. Many shop owners say their business coach is their least costly employee.
Industry Thought Leaders The aftermarket is made up of many various elements that provide important support. Associate executives, special trainers, distribution, shop leaders, manufacturers, technology providers, marketers, foundation leaders, and training groups and more provide engaging interviews in this series.	Industry Women From shop owners and partners, to association leadership this series highlights the women leaders in the aftermarket. When there is a women connection you'll find the interview in this series.
Married Partners Many small business are lead by a husband and wife team. This series highlights these special partnerships and brings out the working relationship that makes remarkable results a big part of their success.	Technology This series covers a wide range of tech talk. These interviews cover topics of/for/around cars, vehicle technology, telecommunications, social media, shop management systems, DVI, Hybrids, and the internet of things. Leading edge discussions are found in this series.
Educators Listen to industry teachers and trainers from all areas of the aftermarket. High school, post-secondary automotive schools, and university leaders bring their passion and perspective to this podcast series.	Multi-Shop Ownership Interviews with service professionals that own more than one shop. The success of running more than one location is usually summed up in your capabilities to scale your business through proper operating processes and a strong culture.

Listen to Learn Just ONE Thing!