

Norcliffe Academic Center

BUILDING OPPORTUNITY TOGETHER

Foundation work is underway as the Norcliffe Academic Center, Cristo Rey Jesuit Seattle's permanent academic home, takes shape.

From Vision to Reality

Cristo Rey Jesuit Seattle (CRJS) was founded on a bold vision: to expand access to an exceptional education that prepares students for success in college and career.

Today, that vision is taking shape in concrete and steel.

With the first foundation pour now complete, construction of the Norcliffe Academic Center (NAC) is officially underway, and our permanent academic home will provide generations of students with spaces designed for learning, collaboration, leadership development, and personal growth.

As the building rises, so too does the opportunity to form graduates who are intellectually competent, open to growth, committed to justice, and prepared to make a positive impact in their communities.

CONSTRUCTION PROGRESS

Recently Completed

The first concrete foundation pour for the Norcliffe Academic Center's basement level is complete, marking an important construction milestone.

Currently Happening

Construction on the basement walls is underway, with concrete placement expected in early October. Storm drain improvements are happening along the driveway. Major utility work, including sewer, plumbing, and electrical work, has started.

Coming Next

Foundation work for the building's main level will begin soon, including excavation and removing existing asphalt to prepare for additional concrete placement. Large structural steel components are expected to arrive in late October and will form the new building's framework.

BUILDING OPPORTUNITY TOGETHER

Opening in Summer 2027, the Norcliffe Academic Center will serve as Cristo Rey Jesuit Seattle's permanent academic home.

Parking

The lower driveway off 57th Avenue South near the construction site is open, and accessible parking remains available at the main entrance. The upper part of the driveway off 57th Avenue South leading to the back parking lot is temporarily closed while storm drainage improvements are underway.

The back parking lot is accessible via the driveway entrance on South Ryan Street and the entrance on 57th Avenue South by the O'Dea field.
