Dear Parents of Blue Door,

Hello! This week during Circle Time the teacher talked about who she was thankful for and what she was thankful for. When the children were asked what they were thankful for we heard toys, cars, Legos, ice cream, and the park. When asked who they were thankful for we heard mommy, daddy, doggy, grandma, grandpa, and sister.

For Art, making their Thanksgiving placemats was lots of fun. They had a great time getting their palms painted as well as their fingers all different colors. As they were getting their fingers painted and their palm painted, they were asked what each color was that was being used. Our Do.a.Dot Thanksgiving craft was also lots of fun. They decorated a small paper plate using Do.a.Dot markers and then glued a turkey shape to it and put the eyes on their turkey. In their journals, they drew a turkey.

For Storytime they enjoyed listening to these stories: Thanksgiving is for Giving, Hands Are Not For Hitting, Clifford's Thanksgiving, The Very Hungry Caterpillar, The Pilgrims First Thanksgiving, and Eight Monkeys Jumping on the bed.

On the playground, we always practice our gross motor skills. This week the children marched around the playground, had a great time having a basketball game, riding the tricycles, walked backward, and went up and down the slide stairs.

Have a nice weekend!
