Dear Parents,

This week we took a flight to "INDIA". The children learned about the colors of the flag from India which are green, white, orange, and blue. They learned that India is the 7th largest country in the world and that the weather and climate there are mostly tropical. The students learned that cows are sacred there and most of the country is Vegetarian and does not eat meat. They also learned about the well-known landmark the Taj Mahal.

The students in Orange Door are gearing up for the beginning of the school year. This week they have been practicing their cutting skills, cutting paper, and working with Play-Doh. For Art, they painted green and orange, to create the flag of India. The students had fun, making tigers by coloring plates the color orange and pasting eyes on them. The students had a great time making peacocks using their handprints with blue paint. Then they used their fingertips to add colors to the "feathers".

Music, movement, and field trip:

The students listened to music from India and learned some of the dances from their culture. The students enjoyed their weekly karate and ballet classes.

We had a field trip that took place in the Science Lab where we had an interactive story time with Mrs. Silvia. She read the story "The Hungry Caterpillar" By Eric Carle, and the students were given a chance to "feed" the caterpillar.

We hope you have a wonderful weekend and we will see you next week!
