Dear Parents,

This week we sprung into the new season, Spring. So we had some busy seasonal workers come visit: flowers and insects. The projects for this week were inspired by the countless insects that make this season bloom.

For art we made yellow butterflies that the kids enjoyed painting, along with red flowers. They also did free art using crayons and markers. I hope you enjoy the projects as much as they did making them!

For circle time the kids saw pictures of the different insects such as, beetles, ladybugs, bees and butterflies. They were able to interact and say what colors they had and what sounds they made. Bzzzzz!

We also included some songs that the kids enjoyed "Spring is Here" and "It's raining, it's pouring."

Hope you have an amazing weekend!
