Principal's Message

Hello Daves Avenue Families,

Today we celebrate 100 days of school! During your dinnertime conversation this evening, consider prompting your child to share their successes so far this year. Successes include academic gains as well growth in executive functioning which can include getting dressed and packing lunches and/or backpacks independently and arriving to school on time. These first grade boys, Grey Gardner, Ryan Berris, Cerick Khetani, and Jordan Mayder wore their 100 day crowns proudly during recess today.

On Monday, I introduced The Great Kindness Challenge (GKC) which is a global campaign promoting kindness in schools. The California Department of Education and State Superintendent, Tony Thurmond, are also cheerleading the need for student health and safety. This proactive anti-bullying campaign is aimed to promote a culture of kindness where acceptance, unity, and respect are core characteristics. Examples of kind acts include sitting with a new group of students at lunch, smiling at 25 people, picking up trash outside of school, eating a healthy snack, making a wish for a child in need, and creating your own kind deed. If you haven't seen your child's Great Kindness Challenge checklist, ask them! Attached is the TK-2 challenge and the 3-5 challenge. The goal is to complete as many acts of kindness by Friday. Once your child turns in the checklist to their classroom teacher, I will be compiling the data of the number of students who participated in kinds acts at Daves Avenue. Kindness matters!

In unity,

Cornerstone Corner

January's Character Trait: Empathy

In December and January, Asset Building Champion (ABC) readers in grades 1-5 read the book The Blue Day Book for Kids, by Bradley Trevor Greive. This book uses kid-friendly and often silly photographs of animals to describe a range of relatable emotions.

One of Project Cornerstone's goals is for students to have more self-awareness and tools to identify and name their feelings. All emotions, including blue emotions such as lonely and sad, are normal and temporary. When we recognize our emotions, there are things we can do to change direction and improve our mood. The Blue Day Book for Kids shares useful tips and tools to turn a blue day into a new day. Many kids feel an improvement in their mood after getting outside and moving their body. Many kids also benefit from breathing techniques, journaling, creating art, and unstructured play. Parents, we encourage you to role model naming and sharing your own emotions with your kids, and show empathetic listening when kids share their own. We are proud of our Daves Ave Cool Cats growing their empathy for others and continuing to develop their emotional awareness.

Social Media Teen Panel

Parents, you are cordially invited to attend a Social Media Teen Panel titled, "Notes to My Middle School Self" on Wednesday, February 5, 2020, from 9:00-10:30 A.M. at Harker School. Common Sense Media will be hosting a moderated teen panel discussion on the good, the bad, and the realities of the social media landscape. Hear firsthand from a panel of teens (including some of our very own Fisher Middle School 8th grade students) about their experiences with social media and their hard-earned advice for parents. Learn why kids love social media, where they can run into trouble, and how parents can help them manage. Please RSVP as soon as possible!
