Overview of what will be covered:

Many of us have dealt with that frantic call and we see the constant social media posts. "My dog ran away." "My cat just snuck out the back door." It's heartbreaking and it's often hard to know how to help. This day is for those who are in the animal welfare field and who could use a primer on what resources exist and how they can either plug into existing programs or create a new one. We will hear from lost dog and cat experts about everything from the technology (cameras, traps and microchip scanners) to the behavior of lost dogs and cats to the role of the shelter, rescue or animal control officer. How can we work together – and better and smarter – to get these pets back home where they belong? This will be an informative day that you won't want to miss and the hope is that you will take what you have learned back to your coworkers.

We will hear from experts in the field who have lots of valuable information to share. Our speakers will be:

- Crystal Arnott, Executive Director of Lowell Humane Society and board member of New England Federation of Humane Societies
- Beth Corr, President of Missing Dogs Massachusetts
- Kelly McPherson, Volunteer for Missing Dogs Massachusetts and co-producer of "It Is RUFF Out There" podcast
- Liz Skrobisch, Executive Director of Animal Rescue of Rhode Island and MAC board member
