Blankets with a heart made in Texas

This is the first blanket our new Texas blanket angels made for MVOB.

An assortment of colorful blankets, each with a tag and a heart, ready to be donated.

My Very Own Blanket has expanded to Carrollton, Texas. A local knitting group that creates handmade afghans, hats, headbands and blankets for Ronald McDonald House, nursing homes and other local charities has started making knitted and crocheted blankets for MVOB.

Carol, the group's leader, told us that they learned about us from our website and wanted to make blankets for children in foster care in their area.

They will donate their blankets, each featuring our special tag – and the group's signature crocheted heart – to local Child Protective Services agencies. Many thanks to our new partners in Texas.
