

For Blood and Bourbon (2021)

The Meetup

Diana Raab

Believe what you feel. Ignore what others tell you. Follow your intuition even if it tells you to jump into bed with the guy who invited you for coffee. You knew when you saw him walk into the outdoor seating area, that he was the one you first met on that dating app. As he approached, his razor sharp eyes pierced yours. You wanted to find a way to make love to him. Well, not necessarily in the coffee shop, but maybe in the back of his black Mercedes SUV. There must be a way for you to get in there, you thought—before he had to head home to take his son to a baseball game. You asked his zodiac sign. He said he was a Pisces—compassionate and intuitive, just like you. For sure your stars were aligned, even though people say opposites attract. You knew you'd sleep together. You felt it ever since his very first text. You were meant to meet.