The hoax known as
“Precision Scheduled Railroading”

Like so many other corporate slogans before it, so-called Precision Scheduled Railroading (PSR) is just one more fancy alluring label for what is no more than a Wall Street gimmick to pump up stock prices and deliver super profits in the short-run to investors, rich folks who know little about the railroad and care even less about its workers, customers, passengers or long-term viability. Given how dissatisfied and alienated so many sectors are with PSR, perhaps we should rebrand it as something closer to the truth. Some thoughts come to mind ….

Got some other ideas?
Please email them along to Railroad Workers United info@railroadworkersunited.org

For more information on the fight against PSR, see the website www.railroadworkersunited.org