

Professor Paul Iversen

Labor Center

Paul Iversen is a labor educator for the University of Iowa Labor Center. Before becoming a Labor Educator in January 2011, Paul was a labor lawyer representing unions in Minnesota for 22 years. Paul has extensive experience representing private and public sector unions in legal matters, organizing and collective bargaining under the National Labor Relations Act, the Railway Labor Act, and the Minnesota Public Employment Relations Act. Paul was also an adjunct professor of Labor Law for William Mitchell College of Law, in St. Paul Minnesota from 2008-2010.