RAIL FUTURE

Public Ownership and Climate Change Solutions

As Railroad Workers United pushes for a new public ownership future for rail in the United States, the opportunity for a massive reinvestment in publicly owned passenger rail presents a promise of sustainable mobility in the face of climate change disaster.

Join labor activists, socialists, and Greens in a free online discussion about the viability and pathways towards a new rail future for the working class.

Panel:

Mary Nickum Chair, Eco-Socialist Work Group, Socialist Party USA
Ron Kaminkow Organizer, Railroad Workers United
Wayne Turner North Carolina Green Party
Eric Chester Labor Working Group, Socialist Party USA

Hosted by the Labor Working Group of the Socialist Party USA
