

Temporary Employee Procedures for COVID-19 Period (Effective 3/17/20, Revised 9-8-22):

This procedure is only in place for the period of COVID-19 Pandemic. Please note that our business is considered an essential function due to the services we provide to the people supported. This procedure is subject to change due to Federal, State and local laws.

COVID-19 symptoms:

COVID-19 is a highly communicable and rapidly evolving respiratory illness caused by the Corona Virus. COVID-19 illness may be mild to severe. Symptoms may appear as soon as 2 days and in as long as 14 days after exposure. Symptoms may include fever or chills, cough, muscle or body aches, new loss of taste or smell, headache, sore throat, congestion or runny nose, nausea or vomiting, diarrhea and shortness of breath. These symptoms are usually mild and begin gradually. Some people infected may remain asymptomatic. Please refer to Center for Disease Control (CDC) guidance for more details and updates.

COVID-19 Prevention in the workplace:

Employees are encouraged to wash their hands with soap and water for at least 20 seconds. Hand washing is especially important before and after eating, using the bathroom, after coughing, sneezing or blowing your nose and touching your face. If soap and water is not readily available for use, a hand sanitizer that contains at least 60% alcohol is recommended. Employees are encouraged to keep at least six (6) feet apart when applicable in a work setting.

COVID-19 Vaccination Documentation

ACL D strongly encourages all employees to be vaccinated against COVID-19. Employees who have received their full COVID-19 vaccinations and a booster shot should send documentation of the vaccination to the Human Resources Department by either fax (516-495-7070) or email (benefits@acl d.org). If the vaccination was administered by either CEC or ACL D, documentation is already on file and will not need any further action. If you have any questions about vaccination please contact the Human Resources Director at (516) 822-0028 extension 135.

Vaccination mandate for CMS

All employees that work in either an ICF residence or in an Article 16 setting must comply with the CMS vaccination mandate for COVID-19. The first dose must be completed by January 27, 2022 and the second dose, if applicable, must be completed by February 26, 2022. The CMS mandate does not offer an opt out option but an employee can apply for either a medical or religious exemption. Employee who are not fully vaccinated will need to test every seven days. Refer to "Vaccination policy for CMS as per Federal Requirements" for more details.

Mask wearing at ACL D (revised 7/19/22)

AS of February 28, 2022, face coverings are optional for employees that work in ACL D Business Offices located in 807 and 857 South Oyster Bay Road in Bethpage. Effective March 11, 2022 face coverings will be optional for employees in the Children's Services program. Any employee who is returning from either isolation or a quarantine period must wear a mask for 10 days from either the date of their onset of symptoms, tested positive or when first exposed to COVID-19.

Effective Monday, July 25, 2022 all employees who attend an ACL D training class will be required to wear a mask at all times. ACL D can provide masks to employees as needed. In order to reduce a quarantine period, ACL D will be applying the OPWDD guidance from September 2, 2021 to employees who attend training. Therefore, wearing a mask would help reduce the spread of COVID-19 and an employee may continue to report to work as long as they do not exhibit symptoms.

ACL D continues to require mask wearing for employees in OPWDD settings regardless of vaccination status. All employees and visitors are required to wear masks in these settings. Employees in an OPWDD setting must wear a properly fitting surgical mask, KN95 or N95 as applicable. Upon request, ACL D can provide masks to employees.

Employees and visitors (in OPWDD) will only be permitted to take off a mask when there are no other people present within the same room except when either eating or drinking and then should maintain a distance of six feet from others. Employees working in a shared office setting must wear their masks at all times to ensure safety for everyone in the room. While an employee is on a break during a work shift, an employee is required to wear a mask when within 6 feet of another person. This would include leaving an ACL D worksite and going out for a meal.

Employees who return to work after five days from being positive from COVID-19 must wear a mask for up to 10 calendar days. An employee who was exposed to a positive case from COVID-19 must wear a mask within the 10 calendar days from the date of when either the symptoms developed or tested positive.

Employee Mask Wearing When Visiting an External Company/Organization

An employee who conducts business at another company must follow their procedures for mask wearing

Pay for Employees who are obtaining their COVID-19 vaccination shot

Under New York State law, employees who are receiving a COVID-19 vaccination shot during their scheduled work hours can receive up to four (4) hours of pay. Paid time for a vaccination shot is available immediately to all employees until December 31, 2022. An employee will be asked to provide documentation of their vaccination to a Human Resources Representative. Additionally, an employee should make every effort to schedule a vaccination shot during non-working hours. Employees who experience side effects from the vaccine and are unable to work may use accruals as per the ACLD's policies in the employee handbook.

As per CDC, a booster is required after five months of receiving your last primary shot. A second booster is required if you are over the age of 50 and it has been over four months from your last booster. As per CDC, an infected person can spread COVID-19 virus starting 48 hours (or 2 days) prior to the onset of symptoms or a positive test.

When an employee should Isolate due to testing positive for COVID-19:

If an employee tests positive they cannot report to work for a minimum of five (5) days regardless of vaccination status. An employee who tested positive may return to work after five (5) days as long as they are symptom free or receive clearance documentation from a medical provider or Department of Health. An employee who returns after five days from being positive from COVID-19 must wear a mask for up to ten calendar days from the date of when either the symptoms developed or tested positive. Employees, who continue to have symptoms may be required to quarantine for ten (10) days.

When an employee has to Quarantine due to exposure of COVID-19 in a non-OPWDD setting:

Quarantine should occur if an employee was exposed to a positive case of COVID-19 and develops symptoms. An employee who does not quarantine due to exposure to COVID-19 and has no symptoms should test after the fifth (5th) day of being exposed. Test results can be sent to a Human Resources representative at benefits@acld.org or fax at 516-495-7070. After being exposed to a positive case, any employee who develops symptoms or tests positive may need to quarantine or isolate for a period between five to ten days regardless of vaccination status. Any employee who is reporting to work and was exposed to a positive case is required to wear a mask and monitor themselves for ten days from the time of the exposure.

Quarantine information for an employee who works in an OPWDD setting and was exposed to COVID-19:

In accordance with OPWDD's 12/28/21 guidance, employees who are exposed to COVID-19, work in OPWDD program, who are not exhibiting symptoms, and are not Covid-19 positive, are not required to quarantine. This applies to both vaccinated and unvaccinated employees. Whether or not an employee has been "exposed" to a positive case is not a factor at this time as OPWDD's guidance also allows staff who have been exposed to report to work if a staffing shortage exists within an Agency. Therefore, ACLD will allow an employee who has been exposed to continue to work if he/she no symptoms and has not tested positive.

Please note, OPWDD defines exposure "as having had prolonged close contact with another person with confirmed or suspected COVID-19 while not wearing recommended personal protective equipment per CDC guidelines; having had close community contact within 6 feet of a confirmed or suspected case for a cumulative 15 minutes or more within a 24 hour period; performing an aerosol-generating procedure while not wearing all recommended PPE; or having been deemed to have had an exposure by a local health department."

Please notify your supervisor if you have been exposed per the definition above, to a confirmed case of COVID-19. Employees who have been exposed must self-monitor for symptoms for 14 days. Self-monitoring should be completed twice a day (i.e. temperature, symptoms), including temperature monitoring and symptom checks at the beginning of each shift, and at least every 12 hours during a shift.

ACLD requires all employees working in OPWDD programs to wear appropriate PPE.

General information about Quarantine period:

If an employee needs guidance on whether or not to quarantine, please contact the Human Resources Department and speak with a manager at (516) 822-0028 extensions: 135, 194 or 203. Additionally, an employee can contact either Nassau or Suffolk County Department of Health to obtain guidance on whether or not it is necessary to quarantine. This information should be shared with a Human Resources representative.

Once an employee has to quarantine he/she cannot shorten the quarantine duration (less than five days) for exposure with a negative test. An employee who was exposed, who quarantined and had symptoms will need to either be symptom free, provide a medical note or Department of Health clearance in order to return sooner than ten (10) days.

Employees who are asymptomatic, who have previously been diagnosed with laboratory confirmed COVID-19 and have since recovered, are not required to retest and quarantine within three (3) months after the date of symptom onset from the initial SARS-CoV-2 infection or date of first positive diagnostic test if asymptomatic during illness. An employee may be asked for documentation from their last diagnoses in order to determine if an employee is within a three-month period.

Documentation needed for an employee who is required to isolate or quarantine due to COVID-19:

If an employee is required to be quarantined by a medical professional or by a government entity he/she must provide documentation. If an employee is absent due to either COVID-19 symptoms or a positive COVID result the employee must not report to work. A medical note or documentation must be sent to an HR representative and can be faxed to 516-495-7070 or emailed to benefits@acld.org. A secondary medical note may be requested to clear an employee to return to work. If an employee is absent for these reasons he/she can utilize sick, personal, vacation and/or floating holiday. An employee who has to isolate or quarantine may be eligible for New York State COVID-19 sick pay if they are not working. Eligibility for NY State COVID-19 sick pay is determined by an HR representative.

A medical note should include the dates the employee will be out and when the employee may be cleared to return to work. Please note that any employee who is home with COVID-19 or an illness must not visit any of our ACLD sites including our administration offices. Please refer to ACLD employee handbook for more specific details on an absence.

Calling out from work:

If an employee is going to be absent he/she must follow the specific program's procedure for a call out (Please note the change in Day Services procedures). If an employee has a safety concern with their worksite they should speak with a member of management whom they are comfortable reporting an issue.

Leave for all illnesses:

If an employee is absent due to illness or out under FMLA or Paid Family Leave (PFL) he/she will be eligible to utilize sick, vacation, personal and/or floating holidays. Once accrued time is exhausted his/her absence will be unpaid unless covered under Paid Family Leave (PFL) or any other local, state or federal law. Please refer to the ACLD employee handbook on FMLA, PFL and disability. Any medical documentation should be submitted to the Human Resources Department by fax or email. Eligibility for paid COVID leave under New York State legislation signed by the NY State Governor will be determined on a case by case basis. An employee may be eligible for up to 14 days paid COVID sick leave. An employee should contact an HR representative to provide the appropriate documentation for New York State Paid leave. For more information you can visit New York State's government website at <https://paidfamilyleave.ny.gov/covid19>.

Day Services Employees working in Residential homes:

Employees in Day Services may be required to work in Residential homes during the Pandemic. This will be based upon people supported attendance in the Day Service programs. Day Services will do their best to accommodate everyone's residential preference. If a Day Services employee is going to be absent he/she must call his/her designated Day Services Supervisor. Day Services employees assigned to residential homes must follow the Residential attendance and tardiness procedure (refer to call out chart below). Day Services will receive his/her current pay rate while working in Residential.

Testing for COVID-19

An employee who is being tested for COVID-19 should not be reporting to work (unless the testing falls under the exceptions listed below) while waiting for the test results to determine if he/she is currently positive for the virus. A fully vaccinated employee should not report to work if they have any COVID-19 symptoms while waiting for test results. An employee may receive disciplinary action up to and including termination if an employee reports to work while waiting for the test results. An employee should not report to work even under the exceptions mentioned below if they have COVID-19 symptoms.

First exception for reporting to work while being testing for a secondary job that requires it:

If an employee works at another company where testing is required for a position he/she will be allowed to report to an ACLD worksite as long as the employee provides documentation from their secondary Employer. The documentation should provide information that explains COVID-19 testing is necessary for the job.

Second exception for reporting to work while being testing for a medical procedure:

An exemption for testing can also be provided to an employee if COVID-19 testing is a requirement for medical procedure (like a surgery).

Third exception for reporting to work while being testing when employee works in an OPWDD setting with a positive case:

An employee who works in a program with a positive or suspected case of COVID-19 and works in a direct care capacity may seek testing and continue to work as long as all protocols are followed as per OPWDD (Revised OPWDD guidance updated September 2, 2021). The employee will need to remain asymptomatic and wear a mask at all times in order to continue working. A program supervisor will communicate with an employee if there are any concerns about not reporting to work. ACLD strongly encourages employees to be tested in this scenario. Testing is voluntary and any costs associated with COVID-19 testing would not be covered by ACLD.

Fourth exception for reporting to work when exposed to COVID-19 and symptom free:

Employees who were exposed to COVID-19 and are symptom free can continue to report to work while waiting for their test results. Employees should test after the fifth day of exposure and report results to the HR department.

In these exempt situations, an employee can continue to work based upon the documentation provided and reviewed by a Human Resources representative. After being cleared by an HR professional, an employee who continues to report work at an ACLD location will still have to successfully pass the health screening assessment as applicable. Any medical documentation can be sent to an HR representative by either fax to 516-495-7070 or email to benefits@acld.org.

Reporting to work at designated location:

All ACLD employees are expected to complete his/her required hours at a designated location. If an employee seeks to work remote, an employee must obtain approval from a supervisor in their department. If an employee's primary location is closed, a supervisor from the employee's program will coordinate a new worksite.

Travel:

Prior to leaving for a trip outside of New York, an employee should consult New York State's government website. Updated information can be found on the NY State's government website at <https://coronavirus.health.ny.gov/covid-19-travel-advisory>.

Domestic and International Travelers:

Quarantine and testing are no longer required for asymptomatic travelers. Any symptomatic employees who travelled should not report to work and seek medical guidance.

 Any employee with COVID-19 symptoms should not report to work until documentation is provided to a Human Resources Representative for review and approval to return. Any medical documentation can be sent to an HR representative by either fax to 516-495-7070 or email to benefits@acld.org.*

Working more than two shifts:

Previously employees were not permitted to work more than two (2) consecutive shifts without a break. Temporarily, due to the emergency circumstances, employees will be permitted to work more than two shifts if asked by a supervisor. This must be approved by the Assistant Director of the program or designee. Certain shifts where an employee has worked more than two shifts may be eligible for a sleep break. A sleep break has to be approved by an ACLD supervisor in the employee's program.

Required screening at an ACLD OPWDD site for COVID-19 as per New York State:

Employees and visitors in OPWDD Certified Sites will need to undergo a health check prior to entering and/or starting a shift. Temperature checks and screening questions will apply to OPWDD Program Sites Only. The temperature of each person must be taken and recorded on a designated form. If he/she registers 100°F or higher the person will not be permitted entry to the facility, or if a person fails to meet the criteria for any pre-screening questions. The screening questions will be provided by a designated supervisor to each worksite to ensure consistency throughout the Agency. If a person answers "yes" to any of the screening questions, that person would not be allowed to stay at an ACLD workplace. If an employee is denied entry to the facility, the chain of command must be notified. All employees are advised that if they develop a temperature of 100°F or higher, or any other symptoms of the COVID-19 virus, while on shift they should immediately contact the chain of command and will be instructed to leave the facility.

Please note this document is subject to change at any time by Senior Management or a Human Resources Manager. Once this temporary procedure is no longer in effect, the Agency will notify employees.
