

Happy Holidays from the ECN Leadership Team!

The year of 2017 was another busy one for ACHE of MA and we enjoyed having the opportunity to see many of you at our events. Whether you joined us in civic engagement in partnership with Greater Boston Food Bank, for networking at Tia's, at one of our Educational Panel Series, as a participant with our Mentorship Program, or through another venue, we thank you for your involvement!

I would also like to take this time to extend an additional Thank You to the ACHE of MA Board and ECN Leadership Team, as my two year term as ECN Vice Chair has come to a conclusion. The chance to collaborate with other volunteers and leaders on behalf of the chapter in this capacity was a pleasure and I am grateful for the experience.

With this transition, I ask that you please join me in welcoming and congratulating my successor, Chris MacFadyen, MHA, who will be taking the reins. Chris has been an active member of the ECN Professional Development Committee and brings enthusiasm and exciting goals to his new role, so I encourage you to stay tuned for 2018 initiatives under his leadership.

I wish you all a safe and healthy holiday, and look forward to staying connected and seeing you in the New Year!

Best,
Ann-Marie M. Panebianco, MBA
