PCL Construction Appoints New Special Projects Manager

Minneapolis, MN (November 14, 2016) –PCL Construction Services, Inc. in Minneapolis has appointed Sean Scott to the position of special projects manager. Sean will oversee the newly revamped Special Projects division.

Prior to his promotion, Sean served as project manager working on several notable projects that include; Jimmy Buffet's Margaritaville at Mall of America, the Southdale Medical Office Building and Parking Ramp, Light Rail Operations and Maintenance Facility, and the Hennepin County South Minneapolis Regional Service Center.

"The revitalization of our Special Projects division will enable our office to better meet the needs of clients' smaller, more unique projects," said Mike Headrick, district manager.

Sean has worked his way up the PCL ranks, first as an intern and later proving himself as a field engineer, project engineer, and project manager. He was awarded the inaugural PCL District Quality Champion Award in 2016. Sean is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin - Madison with a bachelor of science in civil engineering and concentration in construction engineering and management.
