New Tribal Lifeline Options Available at Cellcom

Cellcom is committed to keeping customers connected and is rolling out new Lifeline options for to support qualified customers living on Tribal lands. Lifeline is a federally subsidized program that lowers the cost of phone or internet service for customers in need. Cellcom is a participating provider and offers the benefit paired with a low-cost plan option.

The new Tribal Lifeline Unlimited plans include unlimited data for a lower cost than previous Tribal Lifeline offerings. The postpaid plan, which includes a free phone on 36-month service agreement and requires a credit check, is $5/month plus tax for 5GB of high-speed data.

The prepaid plan, which does not require a contract or credit check, provides 5GB of high-speed data for $10/month, which includes taxes and fees. Additional plan options are available, and all plans include unlimited data talk and text.

To qualify for Lifeline, you must participate in a federal assistance program or meet income guidelines. Tribal Lifeline is available for those who qualify for Lifeline and live on tribal lands. Full details on the eligibility requirements and available plans are available at cellcom.com/lifeline or by visiting a local Cellcom store.
